MANAGER CAREY IS SUSTAINED AND ROW ENDS

Peace and Harmony Now Reign in the Park Commission.

MAYOR WINN'S SPEECH HAS A TELLING EFFECT

Board Recedes From Its Former Position and Yields to the Policy for the Head of Department to Name the Employees Under Him---How It Was Brought About.

The olive branch of peace and the rustling of dove's wings could almost be heard when the park board adjourned yesterday afternoon, after another long and lively session.

General Manager Dan Carey was sustained, and he withdrew his resignation.

The trick was turned by a ringing speech by Mayor Winn, which was, by the way, the first speech he has made before a board. Mayor Winn spoke earnestly, and told the board that it was setting a dangerous precedent when it tried to take authority from the general manager in the appointment of employees.

The matter came up as soon as the new board was organized, with the following members:

New Board as Organized.

W. C. Puckett, first ward; Frank Wilby, second ward; G. N. Hurtel, third ward; T. L. Bond, fourth ward; C. A. Pitts, fifth ward; H. M. Harwell, sixth ward; Lucien Harris, seventh ward; George F. Eubanks, eighth ward; John T. Davis, ninth ward; J. C. Cochran, tenth ward; Mayor Winn and Alderman Warren.

Mr. Eubanks was elected president, and Mr. Harris vice president.

Then the fun began.

Mr. Sucekit wanted to know how the board could proceed with the resignation of the general manager on the table, and he moved to take it up. He was ruled out of order.

Mr. Harris offered a resolution to reconsider the action of the board in the election of a superintendent of Piedmont park and a keeper of the Grant park zoo.

Mayor Winn to the Front.

At this juncture Mayor Winn made his ringing and telling speech. He stated that every other board in the city allowed its head to recommend employees.

"I beg you, gentlemen, not to violate this rule, for it is a right one," said the mayor. "We are here to work together for the good of the parks of our city. You have selected a general manager, and if he is not capable of selecting the right sort of men, you ought to put him out."

Alderman Warren spoke along the same line.

The resolution of Mr. Harris was carried.

The chair announced that it was now in order to elect a superintendent of Piedmont park.

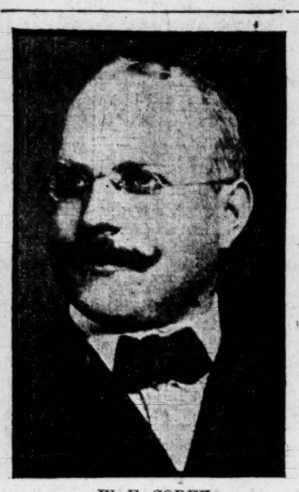

General Manager Carey nominated Nelson Crist, the man he had named Monday and who was defeated by Mr. Maddox when the slate was put through.

Mr. Cochran nominated Mr. Maddox. The vote stood:

For Crist—Mayor Winn, Alderman Warren, Hurtel, Harris, Eubanks, Harwell—6.

HE IS NO LONGER STEEL TRUST CHIEF

W. E. COREY.

COREY HAS QUIT STEEL COMBINE

And It's Said He'll Have No Successor.

Judge Gary Says Steel Trust Can Get Along Without President---Corey Became Notorious by Divorcing Wife and Wedding Mabelle Gilman.

New York, January 3.—William E. Corey, for seven years president of the United States Steel Corporation, resigned today, and it is likely that he will have no successor. His resignation was announced late this afternoon by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the finance committee of the corporation, to take effect at the pleasure of the directors. He carries with him the best wishes of all connected with the corporation, says the statement issued, and leaves with feelings of loyalty to and friendship for the corporation and all its interests, but nothing is said of his plans for the future.

Statement by Gary.

Mr. Gary's statement says in part: "It is the present opinion of the members of the finance committee that there should not be elected a successor as president in the immediate future, if at all. The experience and talents of Mr. Corey have best fitted him to take charge of the commercial and manufacturing departments, and his attention has been largely confined to that service. However, as the manufacturing companies are all thoroughly equipped with the very best talent, including such as the above mentioned branches needs, the strength of the organization will not be diminished. The finance committee may recommend the election of a vice president or two vice presidents, who will be expected to take special charge of different departments. It is intended to strengthen the whole organization in every respect practicable and useful."

Gary's Great Powers.

Something like a year ago, the powers of the chairman of the finance committee and of the chairman of the board of directors, both of which Mr. Gary is, were enlarged to include not only the administrative affairs of the corporation, but also the details of executive management. Unless another president is named, therefore, or another chairman succeeds Mr. Gary, he becomes chief in authority over all provinces of the largest corporation in the world.

So far as could be learned, Mr. Corey was not in town tonight, and no statement from him could be had. It was said that he left town for the holidays, and had not returned.

Corey's Marriage to Actress.

Mr. Corey came into prominence several years ago when he divorced his first wife and the mother of his children in order to wed Mabelle Gilman, the vaudeville actress.

Mr. Corey's action caused a storm of condemnation, and the minister who married him and the actress was sharply criticised.

BULLET-RIDDLED, FLAME-SCORCHED, ANARCHISTS DIE

Trapped in London House, the "Reds" Fight Police, Soldiers and Firemen.

WILD WEST IS EQUALED IN WORLD'S METROPOLIS

Cornered, the Anarchist Band Gives Battle to British Soldiers, Police and Firemen. House at Last Fired and the Anarchists Perished in the Flames.

London, January 3.—All London has been stirred by a terrific fight waged today between anarchists on one side and hundreds of police, infantry from the tower and artillerymen on the other. How many of the anarchists of the band took part in the engagement which was fought in and around a barricaded house in Sydney street, in the east end, is not known, but so far, after a search of the debris of the burned structure, portions of only two bodies have been discovered. The remains consist of the trunk and part of the head of one man and a few charred bones of another.

Steady Rain of Bullets.

It is the opinion of some that two desperadoes alone for many hours held the police and militia at bay. Thousands flocking from all parts of London witnessed the thrilling spectacle of a steady rain of bullets, flashes of fire, smoke pouring from the windows, the house in flames and finally men on the roof, shouting defiance and falling into the seething mass below. Distinguished in the scene was Home Secretary Churchill, who darted here and there, consulting with and advising the department heads as to what measures should be taken.

A police sergeant, searching for the burglars who only a few nights ago killed four policemen was reconnoitering around this Sydney street den in the early hours of the morning. Suddenly a shot was fired and the sergeant fell with a bullet through a lung. A call for police was sounded and the entire neighborhood was cordoned.

People were driven from their houses and a fight began between those fortressed in the house and hundreds of policemen. The Scots guards from the tower hastily dispatched to the scene and later a battery of artillery, with Gatling guns, came at double-quick. These pieces were placed in position, but they did not open fire.

Trying to Smoke Out Desperadoes.

A steady stream of bullets played between the contending forces and the guardsmen took up sheltered position, firing volley upon volley into the house. Piles of straw were cast in all sections and lighted, in the hope that the desperadoes would be smoked out. At last sparks were observed shooting from the windows, accompanied by clouds of smoke and here and there flames.

A detachment of firemen threw water on the adjoining structures. Soon the stream was turned upon the stronghold of the anarchists, which was burning fiercely. Driven from the lower floors, the anarchists made their way to the roof, where it seemed to the watching thousands several forms could be perceived amid the

MAYOR WINN AT HIS DESK.

Mayor Courtland S. Winn as he appeared in the city hall ready for business the first day of his administration. Having served several terms in council, Mayor Winn is familiar with city affairs, and takes hold of city business as though he had been at it for months. He gave evidence of a vigorous determination to have things done right at the first board meeting he attended, when his appeal before the park board was promptly heeded.

NOTABLE DECISIONS BY U. S. SUPREME COURT

NO LESE MAJESTE, SAYS HIGH COURT

Famous Panama Libel Case Is Quashed.

United States Supreme Court Practically Rebukes Roosevelt for Trying to Punish New York World and Other Papers for Criticising His Conduct.

Washington, January 3.—By unanimous decision, the supreme court of the United States today decided that the federal government could not maintain the so-called "Panama canal libel suit" against the Press Publishing Company, of New York, in the federal courts of New York. In so holding, the court affirmed the decision of the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York, which had quashed the famous indictment.

In effect, the decision was that the federal court had no jurisdiction over the alleged offense, because the case might have been brought in a state court.

The Press Publishing Company, publisher of The New York World, was indicted in March, 1909, in the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York for libel.

The Alleged Libel.

In effect, this libel was the publication of articles stating that Charles P. Taft, Douglas Robinson and William Nelson Cromwell, with J. P. Morgan and others, obtained control of the Panama canal route for about $3,000,000, and by the co-operation of Theodore Roosevelt, then president of the United States, and brother-in-law of Mr. Robinson, and William H. Taft, then secretary of war, and brother of Mr. Taft, were enabled to effect the sale of the Panama canal to the United States at a profit of $36,000,000.

The United States claimed jurisdiction to punish the alleged libel on the theory that the publisher had committed a crime upon federal territory at West Point, N. Y., and in the postoffice building in New York city.

It was argued that wherever the papers containing the alleged libelous articles might have been printed that they were technically "published" upon these federal reservations, and that the federal government had the power to punish such publishing.

Why Indictment Was Quashed.

The indictment was quashed on the ground that the court was without jurisdiction of the crime of libel charged in the indictment. The United States appealed from this construction of the statute under which it claimed the indictment was authorized.

The decision of the court today dealt entirely with the act of congress in 1898 under which the indictment was brought. The effect of this act was to incorporate the criminal laws of the several states in force on July 1, 1898, into the federal statute, and to make them applicable to federal reservations within the various states. Among these state laws was a New York libel law.

The court, through Chief Justice White, stated that while the statute left no doubt where acts were done on reservations which were expressly prohibited and punished as crimes by a law of the United States, that law was dominant and controlling, yet, on the other hand, where no law of the United States had expressly provided for the punishment of offenses committed on reservation, all acts done on such reservations which were made criminal by the laws of the several

INITIAL CARRIERS ARE RESPONSIBLE

For Shipments on Connecting Lines.

United States Supreme Court Upholds Carmack Amendment to Hepburn Rate Law in Case Carried Up From Georgia.

Washington, January 3.—(Special.)—The Carmack amendment to the act to regulate commerce, which makes the initial carrier responsible for the loss or damage to a shipment of goods while en route, even though the merchandise has passed out of the hands of the original carriers and into the hands of a connecting carrier, was today upheld by the supreme court.

The case decided by the court was that of the Atlantic Coast Line v. the Riverside Mills, brought in the United States district court of the southern district of Georgia.

Lamar Argued Case.

An interesting feature in connection with the rendering of the decision by Mr. Justice Lurton, was that Justice Joseph R. Lamar, who a half hour previous had been admitted as a member of the court, appeared as counsel for the railroad company and argued

GUARANTY LAWS ARE HELD VALID

Banking Acts of Three States Are Sustained.

United States Supreme Court Upholds Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska in Guaranteeing the Safety of Bank Deposits.

Washington, January 3.—The bank guaranty laws of Oklahoma, Nebraska and Kansas today were declared constitutional by the supreme court of the United States, and thus the fight over the establishment of the policy of guaranteeing, through the state, deposits in banks was won by the advocates of such a policy.

The opinions of the court in the cases were announced by Justice Holmes. He said the main objection to the laws was that the assessment of banks by the state in order to create a fund to guarantee the deposits in other banks within the state took private property of one bank for the private use of another without compensation.

Justice Holmes admitted that there might be a taking of private property without return to pay debts of a failing rival in business, but he said that there were more powerful considera-

ADVERTISING TALKS.

WRITTEN BY
WILLIAM C. FREEMAN.

DR. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER, President of Columbia University, made an address before the Sphinx Club, in which he attributed the high cost of living to the gravitation of population to the big centers—the cities. He made the point that people who were merely consuming foodstuffs and not producing them were like people who were using up their capital instead of living on their income.

He mentioned some States that during the last ten years increased but very little in population, because of the fact that people were leaving villages and farms to go into the cities.

As I listened to him, the thought occurred to me that many RAILROADS ARE ADVERTISING TO DEVELOP THE COUNTRY along the line of their roads, so why wouldn't it be a good idea for the STATE AUTHORITIES to appropriate money for ad-

THREE OF BIRDS FALL INTO HANDS OF BREMEN CHIEF

Knox, Langdon and Brooman Are Arrested Getting Shave.

STEEL SAWS ARE FOUND CONCEALED ON TRIO

Chief of Police of Bremen, Ga., Arrests Three of the Five Prisoners Who Sawed Out of the Tower --- Wife Murderer and One of the Bandits at Large.

A. R. Knog, Harry Langdon and Edward Brooman, three of the five desperate criminals who broke out of the Fulton county Tower Monday night, are behind the bars again. The whereabouts of Withrow and Sutton are still unknown.

They were arrested at Bremen, Ga., yesterday morning by Chief of Police W. Oscar Bullard, who recognized Knox from the picture in The Constitution.

At 12:15 o'clock this morning, the three prisoners, in company with City Detective G. C. Bullard, brother of the captor, and Deputy Sheriff Minor, arrived in Atlanta and were lodged in the Tower.

"Keep Your Mouth Shut."

Sheriff Mangum was the first to greet the returning prisoners upon their arrival at the depot. They smiled grimly as he spoke to them cheerily and told them he was glad to see them back.

"Keep your mouth shut," called out Knox to Brooman as the three prisoners entered the patrol wagon. Knox and Langdon were chained together, and were brought in by the deputy, while Detective Bullard had charge of Brooman.

In the pockets of the three jail birds the Bremen chief found a dozen or more steel saws, which he confiscated. Mayor Frank Walker, of Bremen, hurried to Atlanta shortly after the arrest, and at the police headquarters identified the Bertillon pictures of the three men.

Had Outside Help.

Harry Langdon tells this story of the escape:

"We had outside assistance, but I won't tell who. We drew up the scantling and saws and it didn't take long to cut through the bar. Withrow went down first, because he was the lightest. Sutton followed and then me, Brooman and Knox climbed down.

"Knox, Brooman and me stuck together all the time. I don't know what became of Withrow and Sutton, as soon as he and the ground he high-balled up Butler street with all the money that had been furnished us. I don't know where he went.

Policeman Gave Matches.

"We sure got cold and hungry. We three went over to the Terminal Station and asked a cop for a match. He gave it to us without suspecting who we were. Then we walked out Elliot street, boarded a street car and waited in Inman Yards until about 3 o'clock this morning, when we nabbed a passing freight.

"While we were waiting at Inman a night watchman came along and tried to run us off. We bluffed him, though, and he soon left.

"We got into Bremen cold and hungry early this morning. We spent 85 cents for breakfast and were in the barber shop getting a shave when the marshal came along and pinched us."

Story of the Escape.

The story of the capture is that the men reached Bremen yesterday morning and went into the barber shop there to get shaved. They were recognized as the escaped men and were taken into custody by Chief of Police Bullard, a brother of G. C. Bullard, of the Atlanta force. The mayor was to leave for Atlanta a few minutes after the capture, and he was intrusted with the responsibility of notifying the authorities here and of identifying the men by their photographs.

After the first excitement had subsided at the Tower Monday night, the matter of the escape was gone into in great detail, and a thorough search was made for any clue as to how the men had executed their plans. When the alarm was first given, the entire Tower was all excitement, with telephone bells ringing, notifying the city police, the county men, putting officers on guard in all the railroad yards and in every suburb of the city.

Leaves Taunting Note.

When a search of the cells was made the only evidence of the escape was the missing blankets, and in Withrow's cell a photograph of himself with the following taunting message to Jailer Walter Knight written on it:

"Honey Boy, by-by old Kid. I bid you good-by. I leave this so you will remember me. Good-by.

"J. M. WITHROW."

The iron bar at the window, wrenched from its place to allow the men to pass through, and the rope of blankets showed the manner of exit.

The clean sawed bar shows that the men had a saw as their tool and the pine scantling, left by them in the corridor, was their means of twisting the bar out of its place. The scantling was wet through when found by the jailer, and could not have been in the jail very long. It is the presence of this which leads the officials

DRIVING ALL WAY FROM MICHIGAN, MRS. CANNON AND DAUGHTER COME DIRECT TO CONSTITUTION

Mrs. W. A. Cannon, Jr., her 17-year-old daughter, Miss deEmery Cannon, and their faithful horse, which brought them all the way from Battle Creek, Mich., to Atlanta, the trip requiring 43 days. They came direct to The Constitution office for directions as to the roads to Jacksonville, having heard at home of The Constitution's Around-the-State Good Roads Tour.

In these days of railroads and automobiles and airships, one would scarcely think of taking a pleasure drive behind a single nag all the way from Battle Creek, Mich., to Jacksonville, Fla., and then some.

But that's just what Mrs. W. A. Cannon, Jr., and her 17-year-old daughter, Miss deEmery Cannon, of Battle Creek, Mich., have done, and are still doing.

In other words, after a 43-day trip from Battle Creek behind faithful old "Dobbin," they reached Atlanta yesterday and drove direct to The Constitution office.

"We came to The Constitution," Mrs Cannon said, "because we had heard way up in our country of its round-the-state automobile tour, and we wanted to find out the best route to take on the remainder of our trip to Jacksonville.

LAMAR IS SWORN AS U. S. JUSTICE

Georgian Takes HisPlace on Supreme Bench.

Van de Vanter Also Takes the Oath, and for the First Time in Nineteen Months the Supreme Court Bench Is Complete.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, January 3. —(Special.) Joseph R. Lamar, of Georgia, was today sworn in as associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. Judge Willis Van de Vanter, of Wyoming, also took the oath. Both justices immediately entered on their duties.

For the first time in nineteen months the bench was complete, and for the first time in the history of the court, nearly a century and a quarter old, one president had commissioned within a single year five men to sit upon the bench.

Among those present were Mrs. Lamar and the two sons of the new associate justice from Georgia.

Judge Samuel B. Adams, of Savannah, a close friend of the new justice, was also in the court room. Lucius Lamar, a young lawyer of Milledgeville, was present and was admitted to practice before the supreme court. Mrs. Taft and a party of friends witnessed the opening ceremonies.

Samuel Hawkins, the negro man who formerly ran the elevator for the supreme court members, has been assigned to Judge Lamar as his body servant.

Judge Lamar made a distinctly favorable impression by his looks and bearing upon the little crowd gathered in the court room, and approving expressions were heard among the lawyers and others gathered for the ceremonials.

POSTAL BANKS DOING BUSINESS

System Inaugurated in United States Tuesday.

Washington, January 3.—The postal savings bank system was inaugurated in the United States, one bank being opened in every state in the union.

Advices received here indicate that the first day's business was good, many persons having made deposits.

Reports from some places state that scores of children were in line to make deposits.

Brunswick, Ga., January 3.—With several deposits of $100 each, the limit for one month's deposit from one person, the experimental postal savings bank for Georgia was opened here today. Several accounts of 10 cents each were started by the certificate plan. No announcement was made of the total deposits or other statistics.

MILEAGE IN HAND, COLE WAS EJECTED

Cordele, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—John E. Cole, chairman of the newly installed board of commissioners of Crisp county, made a statement today relative to what promises to be somewhat of a sensational suit which he expresses the intention of bringing against the Georgia, Southern and Florida railroad, as the result of an experience which he had yesterday with a conductor on the northbound "Shoofly" of that road at a point near Finley, 20 miles north of Cordele.

According to his statement, he had exchanged mileage from a book for a ticket from Cordele to Vienna, where the train stops for only a few minutes. Finding upon his arrival there that the parties whom he had gone to see on business were leaving on this same train, he again boarded the train, being unable for lack of time to purchase a ticket to Pinehurst, the point of his destination.

When the conductor come for tickets, he tendered his mileage book, with the above explanation, which the conductor refused to accept. The conductor then demanded a cash fare of 39 cents, which Cole refused to pay, as he had a mileage book and was on continuous passage.

After a few heated remarks, the conductor pulled the bell cord, at the same time asking passengers to assist him in putting Cole off the train. Upon their refusal, he then called the assistance of members of the crew, and Cole was ejected. At this time the train was nearing the little station of Findley, where Cole again attempted to board the train and offering to pay cash fare, which was refused.

ALDERMEN ROAST AT MASS MEETING

Griffin, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Mayor J. W. Gresham, having for the second time this morning failed to get a meeting of the city council at the request of a large number of prominent citizens to consider the near beer lincense issued Monday morning to J. M. Bassett & Co., a mass meeting of citizens, of which W. B. Griffin acted as chairman, was held in the council chamber at 10 o'clock, at which resolutions, introduced by E. W. Bigham and seconded by Colonel W. E. H. Searcy, Sr., were unanimously adopted condemning the conduct of certain aldermen who have refused to meet, and thereby prevented the meeting of council on account of the lack of a quorum, as unworthy of such public office and meriting the condemnation of all law-abiding citizens. All honor was given to Mayor Gresham and Aldermen Boyd, Wheaton, Rice and Tyus, who were present for the purpose of meeting with the council to consider the matter. In presenting his resolution, Mr. Bigham said:

"I wish to say in regard to this resolution that we are confronted with the very unusual situation, as public citizens, of being greatly interested in a matter of very great general public concern, affecting the highest moral and business interest of our community, and yet, after repeated efforts to get a hearing from the mayor and general council upon the matter, our wishes are unheeded and defeated by the refusal of certain members of the council to attend the special meetings called by the mayor at our request, and we are thus denied the rightful privilege of consulting with them as our public servants upon this matter, which is of such great importance to us as a community and as individual citizens."

The resolutions adopted follow:

"Whereas, quite a large number of the citizens of Griffin have twice requested a meeting of the city council for the purpose of consulting with them upon a matter of general and great public interest, and, whereas, the mayor, in obedience to said request, has twice called the council to come together for this purpose, and a number of them have wilfully refused to do so, thereby preventing a quorum.

"Resolved, That we, the said citizens, in mass meeting assembled, do condemn the conduct of the aldermen who have refused to meet with us as unworthy of public officials, and meriting the condemnation of all law-abiding citizens."

Created Sensation.

The near beer question which has grown out of the action of J. M. Bassett & Co. in paying $5.000 city license to sell near beer, it being supposed that such a license would be prohibitory, and which did last year cause the suspension of seven near beer saloons in this city, has created a great sensation here, and the prohibitionists say they will fight the matter to the last, alleging various irregularities in the issuing of the license.

In the meantime Bassett & Co., having secured their license from the city clerk at one minute after 12 o'clock Monday morning, just after an injunction had been issued to the clerk not to serve any license until a hearing could be had on January 13, opened a saloon Monday afternoon, and are doing a rushing business, much to the chagrin of the leading prohibitionists of the city.

The near beer war promises to be on for several weeks, and the outcome is being watched with great interest, not only here, but throughout the state.

Suits at your price today at Carroll's, 172 Peachtree.

JUDGE BROYLES GUEST OF HONOR

Fellow Citizens Pay Him Great Tribute.

Nearly Three Hundred Representative Atlanta Citizens Gathered at Banquet to Do Honor to Man Who Holds Down Police Court Bench.

Between 250 and 300 of the most representative citizens of Atlanta gathered at the Cafe Durand last night to do honor to Judge Nash R. Broyles for his faithful and fearless services as the city's recorder.

It was a great and fitting tribute to one of the most efficient officials Atlanta has ever had.

There were present both the ex-mayor and the mayor of the city, ministers of the gospel, lawyers, physicians, merchants, manufacturers, clerks, and in fact, men from every walk of life to show their appreciation of good services a faithful official had rendered.

It was one of the most happy occasions of the kind that has ever occurred in Atlanta.

Big Men Present.

The tables were arranged with crosses at each end. At one end sat ex-Mayor Robert F. Maddox, Hon. T. H. Ellet, Dr. C. B. Wilmer, Judge Nash R. Broyles, General Miller, Burton Smith, Judge W. D. Ellis, Rev. Orme Flinn, Hon. H. H. Cabaniss.

At the other end were Mayor Courtland S. Winn, Judge H. M. Holden, Judge Arthur Gray Powell, Hon. John M. Slaton, Lieutenant Allen, Judge George M. Bell, Judge John T. Pendleton, Colonel Van Orsdale and Newman Laser.

The dining hall was beautifully decorated and the menu excellent, and when the repast was finished ex-Mayor Robert F. Maddox, acting as toastmaster, addressed those present and said the friends of Judge Broyles were present to do him honor. He said he wished at the very beginning of the program to make the announcement that the recorder should never be elected by the people, although Judge Broyles had tried both ways and been successful.

"It is a great tribute to a most faithful officer of the city that we should come here tonight and have him as our guest, said the ex-mayor.

The first speaker was Mayor Winn, who paid a high eulogy to the recorder of Atlanta.

The speakers all said that Atlanta was fortunate to have such a man as Judge Broyles as recorder, and they all paid him the highest tribute for the way in which he enforced the law.

Those who made short talks were Dr. C. B. Wilmer, Judge Arthur Gray Powell, Hon. H. H. Cabaniss and Newman Laser.

At the conclusion Judge Broyles was presented, and he said with much feeling and sincerity:

Judge Broyles Responds.

"Mr. Toastmaster, Fellow-citizens asd Friends: Every fiber of my being responds tonight to your warm and friendly greetings. Would that I had the tongue of a Patrick Henry or a Sergeant Prentiss that I might fittingly express my heartfelt appreciation. I see around me the flower of Atlanta's citizenship—the men who have made her what she is—the glory and the pride of our southland, and when I realize that you have gathered here tonight in my poor honor I am almost overwhelmed. I am not vain enough, however, to take your tribute as a personal one. I know that your presence here means that you and I stand for the same principles in the civic life of Atlanta. It means that you and I are old-fashioned enough to believe in the enforcement of the law, and that we realize the great danger to our city and country from the lawlessness that pervades every section of these United States. And if I deserve any special mention it is simply because through the accident of fortune I have been placed, as it were, upon the firing line, and have had better opportunities than most of you to do some little service in the war against lawlessness, which is now on in earnest. Fellow-citizens, the increase of lawlessness in our country is most alarming. Nearly 10,000 of our people were murdered during the last twelve months, and lawlessness of all kinds flourished like a green bay tree. We are fast becoming known to the rest of the world as a nation of criminals—as a nation of murderers. Unless this lawlessness is checked, life and property will soon become so unsafe in our country that our peaceable and law-abiding citizens will emigrate to some country where the law will protect them. Long years ago, in the middle of the last century, Lord Macauley made a prophecy about our country. Said he: 'The republic of America will be as fearfully plundered and laid waste in the twentieth century as the Roman Empire was in the fifth, but with this difference, the Huns and Vandals who ravaged Rome came from without, but the Huns and Vandals who will destroy the American republic will be engendered within her own institutions.'

Crush Lawlessness.

"My friends, the twentieth century is here! And before it ends this prophecy may become an historical fact! Our children may live to see 'our citizens in terror,' our country in flames! They may hear the victorious shouts of our American vandals as they ruthlessly trample upon the ruins of our civilization! They may feel the curse of God fall upon them—'a clinging, wasting curse' that may not leave them till hungry flames shall have licked away their proud and stately cities, and 'every brook runs crimson to the sea.'

"God grant that this prophecy may not come true! God grant that the people of this country will rise up and crush this lawlessness before it crushes them. And what, my friends, can you and I do, individually, to help in this great cause? First of all, we can set a good example to others by obeying the law ourselves. Just so long as the respectable citizen, silk-hatted and kid-gloved, slips his shining pearl-handled revolver into his hip pocket, just so long will the negro denizen of 'Hell's Half-acre' do the same thing. The negro is the most imitative race on the face of the earth, and he absorbs the white man's vices like a sponge does water. Let us cut out our vices and give him a fair opportunity to emulate our virtues. But, my friends, I have preached enough, and perhaps too much, for such a happy occasion. And now, under the circumstances, I know you will pardon me for a personal allusion. What fortune has in store for me, I know not. No man may draw aside the veil and look into the future. But if misfortune should ever overwhelm me, I will at least have the consolation of looking back to this evening; of seeing once more in memory's eye your smiling faces; of feeling once again the hearty clasp of your hands, and of hearing again your kind and sympathetic voices. Yes—

"'Let Fate do her worst,
There are relics of joy,
Bright dreams of the past
That she cannot destroy—
Which throng 'round us in
Our nights of sorrow and care,
And bring back the features
That joy used to wear.'

"My dear friends, before I sit down, allow me to wish for each and every one of you here tonight all the joy and happiness possible. May your every wish and ambition be gratified. I shall watch your future careers with a prayer upon my lips, for I love you all. And as my closing words, I invoke the prayer of Tiny Tim: 'God bless us, every one.'"

POSSES AFTER NEGRO WHO STABBED DEPUTY

Cutting Occurred in a Buggy While Officer Was Bringing Negro to Town.

Vidalia, Ga., January 3.—(Special.) Bill Owens, a desperate negro, said to be from Emanuel county, fatally cut Deputy Sheriff Brice Anderson, of Toombs county, yesterday morning while in a buggy under arrest about 4 miles from this place.

In searching the negro the deputy failed to find a knife which Owens had concealed on his person. At the first opportunity the negro began cutting Anderson about the neck and back and leaped to the woods, where he is now at large. Anderson managed to come to Vidalia, where physicians dressed his wounds. He is in a very serious condition.

A posse is in the woods in pursuit of Owens with bloodhounds and it is probable that if caught he will be lynched.

ICE KING MORSE CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY BEHIND BARS

Charles W. Morse's anniversary!

No, not of his birth, nor not even his marriage, but of that other day which now stands boldly from among all the rest in his life, the day he began his term of service in the Atlanta federal penitentiary.

Just one year ago today the ex-banker and one-time ice king, took up the round of routine which is to make up the sum and substance (almost) of his existence for the fifteen dreary years society has demanded of him as penance for transgressions he is said to have committed.

"One year ago? Just one, and no more?" wonders the one-time millionaire this morning as he looks out from his barred cell, out across the barren prison yards, across the great rock walls where the grim guards pace in grimmer silence, and on out across the seared fields, presenting a prospect as cheerless as that which the future seems to hold.

It has seemed a lifetime.

His Hopes Were High.

One year ago, on entering the prison, the ex-banker was full of hope. He had powerful friends on the outside, friends who would not forget, friends who would leave no stone unturned to free him. And knowing this, hope ran high. Feeling that he had been guilty of only technical violation of the law, if at all, and relying on the assistance of his friends, he felt that it could be only a matter of months until he would again breathe the air of freedom.

But since that time—ah!

There has been no forgetting on the part of his friends; they have done all that men could do; nor has there been any let-up in the pathetic efforts of the brave little woman who believes him, the father of her children, incapable of wrong. But the wheels of justice have ground slowly, indeed, and the end is not yet in sight.

NEGROES OF ATLANTA CELEBRATE FREEDOM

A large crowd of some twelve hundred people, including many white men of prominence in the city, attended the Emancipation celebration at the Auditorium-Armory last night, at which some of the leading negroes of the south were enthusiastically applauded in their talks.

H. H. Proctor spoke upon the progress of the negro in religion, and John Hope talked upon the progress of the negro in education.

The principal speech was made by W. T. Vernon, former register of the treasury. He spoke of the progress of the negro in literature, art and scholarship, stressing the fact that they were becoming more industrious and were learning to save money. He said that the race was growing fast and that the educational standards should be raised every year.

THREE JAIL BIRDS BAGGED AT BREMEN

These three young fellows aroused the suspicions of Chief of Police Bullard at Bremen when he recognized Knox's likeness in The Constitution. They are now back in the Tower.

THREE OF BIRDS ARE CAPTURED

to state conclusively that the men had outside assistance in their escape.

The theories in regard to how the scantling was procured by the men are numerous, but they all resolve themselves into a single one—that it was drawn up from the outside after having been fastened to a rope by the confederate who assisted them.

The rope used was probably the same one, made by tying their blankets together, by means of which the men reached the ground from their fourth story window, and which was left dangling from the bars where it was tied. It might have been brought into the jail, if there had been any outsider near the cells of the men during the past week, but some painters, engaged in refinishing the interior of the building, are the only ones that have been on that floor recently except the employees of the Tower.

The painters have not been there in ten days or two weeks, and no suspicion attaches to any employee, so the first theory, that the piece of wood was drawn up from the outside through the window, remains the only practicable one. No marks on the wall show this to be true, but the condition of the night and the care probably exercised by the men would have prevented this.

Who Was Outside Friend?

There is no trace of the confederates of the men, or how they perfected the details of the escape. Annie Stoe, a white woman of suspicious reputation, was arrested yesterday morning by city detectives near the Terminal station, where she was walking up and down many times, evidently waiting for some one, with a ticket for Memphis purchased on Monday in her pocketbook. A man had been with her, but he proved to be a friend and not one of the escaped prisoner's brothers, as was at first thought. Nothing has been told by the woman, but she is being held on suspicion, and the police think forthcoming events may possibly connect her with the delivery of Monday night.

The story of the escape as told by the employees of the Tower, shows the ingenuity and cunning of the criminal classes, and their reckless daring in such matters. Shortly before 6 o'clock C. C. Tedder, a former policeman, and now connected with a law firm of the city, was taken up to the cage of the prisoners by Inside Warden W. J. Gilleland, in order to see Knox and Sutton, who had secured lawyers to defend them when they come to trial for highway robbery and assault with attempt to murder. Tedder was let into the cage by Mr. Gilleland, who then left him to talk to the prioners in their cells about their defense.

Consulted About Lawyer.

Mr. Tedder stayed in the cage about fifteen minutes, and was then let out by the warden, who closed the door as usual. Not thirty minutes later word was brought to him by Crump, a trusty prioner charged with "moonhining," who had charge of feeding the prisoners, cleaning up, etc., that the five men were gone. An examination showed that he was correct, and the alarm was raised. The work necessary to escape, therefore, must have consumed but a short time.

The fact that one of the escaping prisoners was from Fannin county, and a "foreigner" in the parlance of the Tower, meaning anyone not from Fulton county, was the only reason that the escape was discovered as soon as it was, and not the following morning. The Fulton county prisoners are given only two meals a day, dinner and supper, while the "foreigners" are served with supper. Crump went up to give Withrow his supper, and found that none of the men were there.

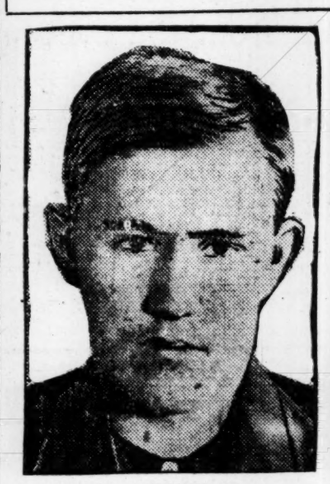

The men at this time were not locked in their cells, but had access to the corridor of the cage, as it is called, and therefore to the window at the end, opening to the outside. They are usually locked in at 7 o'clock, and if they had escaped at that time assistance from within would have been necessary to unbolt the fastening of the lever which closes all of the cells of that cage simultaneously.

Weather Great Aid.

The weather was a great aid to the men in their escape, and prevented the systematic trailing which would have been possible without the wet grounds caused by the rain of the two preceding days. Track were found under the window, where the men had reached the ground, and could be traced a short distance, but after this there was not the slightest clue, and the footsteps of the escaping prisoners mingled with the hundreds of pede trians who had been abroad during the day.

When seen yesterday Sheriff Mangum said that he had no statement to make concerning the escape, except his regret that it occurred. He has systematically taken up the matter of recapture, and expresses the belief that they will again repose behind the bars. The escape occurred while the sheriff was out of the city

$350 REWARD IS UP FOR JOHN WITHROW

After a conference with Judge N. A. Norris, of the Blue Ridge circuit, Governor Joseph M. Brown has offered a reward of $250 for the capture of John Withrow, who, in company with four other desperate characters, escaped from the Tower Tuesday night.

Judge Norris was especially interested in the case, as it was tried before him. He says that the murder for which Withrow was sentenced to hang was one of the most cold-blooded crimes that ever came before him. Withrow murdered his wife while he was under the influence of liquor. At the time she was fleeing from the man with her baby in her arms.

Sheriff Mangum will pay a personal reward of $100 for Withrow's capture.

CONSTITUTION PICTURES LED TO CROOKS' UNDOING; BULLARD BAGS THREE OF 'EM

When Chief of Police W. O. Bullard, of Bremen, Ga., went down to the depot early yesterday morning to get his Constitution, the first thing his eye lit upon as he opened the paper was the black type headline:

FIVE DESPERATE PRISONERS SAW THROUGH BARS OF JAIL AND GO DOWN BLANKET ROPE.

"Great Scott!" said he, or words to that effect. "Suppose they come this way?"

Glancing down the page his eye lit upon the pictures of Charles Sutton and A. R. Knox, the drug store hold-up men.

"Ah!" he said, and there was meaning in that Ah! "I may have use for those some day."

Carefully cutting the crooks' pictures from The Constitution, he placed them in his pocket, and whistling to make himself forget the blizzard, he started off up the street.

Now Bremen's main street is not a very long one and the barbershop is not so many blocks away from the depot.

When Chief Bullard got almost abreast the barbershop he saw a sight that made him change his whistle of encouragment to one of surprise.

Three men wearing somewhat the appearance of hoboes were just entering the barbershop.

"It may not be them," he said, "but I'll just have a look."

With that Chief Bullard took another "scrutiny" of The Constitution picture of the two crooks, and casually and carelessly strolled into the barbershop to warm up a bit.

The three escaped jail birds, Knox, Langdon and Brooman, had gone into the barbershop to get "fixed up" a bit, perhaps to put on the disguise of cleanliness.

Chief Bullard strolled carelessly around on one side of them and then on the other; then he reached a conclusion, and no sooner had he concluded than he acted.

"They are my meat," he said, and proceeded to pen them.

Denial and protest on the part of the crooks was of no avail; the chief was sure he was right and it was to the town lock-up for them with an extra guard until they could be deported to Atlanta.

A search revealed some dozen or fourteen steel saws upon the persons of the escapes; Chief Bullard decided to take no chances with the Bremen guardhouse whose bars might be as easily susceptible to steel saws as those of the Fulton county Tower, so he confiscated them.

Then he communicated to Sheriff Wheeler Mangum the news of the three crooks' capture, and the sheriff, overjoyed, arranged to send for them.

Assisted by The Constitution pictures Chief Bullard did a splendid piece of work, and if there is any reward for their apprehensions, which there should be, he is well entitled to it.

MANGUM OFFERS $500 REWARD FOR CAPTURE OF JAIL BIRDS

Sheriff Wheeler Mangum has offered a personal regard of $100 apiece for the capture of the five prisoners who escaped Monday night from the Fulton county jail—a tota lof $500.

Since the escape the sheriff and his deputies, assisted by the county police and other officers, have unceasingly active in their effort to locate the escaped prisoners.

The telephone and the telegraph wires have been kept hot, and stacks upon stacks of letters containing circulars, descriptions and photographs have been mailed out.

Negro Jockey Electrocuted.

Ossining, N. Y., January 3.—Samuel Austin, a negro jockey, well known to followers of racing on eastern tracks, was electrocuted in Sing Sing prison at 6 o'clock this morning for the murder of his wife, whom he killed at Marmaroneck on September 4, 1909. On account of the peculiar egg-shaped head of the negro the officials had great difficulty in adjusting the electrodes and two long shocks were required to insure the death.

Moxley Must Pay Fine.

Chicago, January 3.—Congressman William J. Moxley's oleomargarine company today, lost in the United States circuit court of apeals, his fight against payment of $29,000 fine charged against it because of failure to pay the 10 cents a pound revenue tax on a quantity of oleomargarine manufactured by it. His claim was that use of palm oil as a coloring and food ingredient did not violate the internal revenue laws.

The Wrinkles Made Around Your Waist by Bad Fitting Corsets

Will Soon Extend to Your Cheek and Then They Are Trenches for Wretchedness

We can fit all women—the slim, delicate, hot house, primrose type; the vigorous, irrepressible, bronze-tinted athletic type and every in-between healthy, hearty, happy daughter of Eve. If you are a grave, tranquil, placid mouse-in-the-corner or an electric, staunchless, mettlesome out-door madcap and your Corset is a curse, consult us.

Concerning Corsets—

BY MISS BERNICE SCOTT
CHAMBERLIN-JOHNSON-DuBOSE CO.

A Corset should be a comfort, not an incubus.

A Corset may be a thorn in your side.

The unkindest cut of all---a poorly-cut Corset.

Heart strings draw tears from the eyes---so do Corset strings.

It's inexplicable why women let Corsets ill-use them.

The wrong Corset may break your heart by breaking your health.

Is your Corset a plague---a secret grief?

The Following Corsets Are Our Own Private Brands

"Delice"	"Lily of France"	"La Vida"	"Bon Ton"	"Nemo"	"Majestic"
$5.00 to $25.00	$5.00 to $12.00	$5.00 to $12.00	$5.00 to $12.00	$3.00 to $5.00	$1.00 to $3.00

The human body is divided into four parts---head, trunk, upper and lower extremities.

We wish to discuss the trunk---chest and abdomen.

Every normal woman's chest is protected in front and at both sides by twelve pair of ribs and at the back by the spinal column to which the ribs are connected.

The spinal column is composed of twenty-four vertebrae.

The true ribs are joined to the breast bone or sternum.

The false ribs are also connected with the sternum, but by pliable cartileges.

The floating ribs, so-called, because they are loose in front, are simply joined to the vertebrae and are therefore subjected to many adjustments.

The chest and abdomen are separated---by an important partition, called the diaphram.

The diaphram has an upward and downward movement caused by every inhalation and exhalation of air.

The lungs are the blood-purifying organs. They inhale and exhale air eighteen times a minute.

The proper way to breathe is to expand the lungs several inches with each inhalation.

The heart beats seventy times a minute. It pumps all the blood through the body and itself once every thirty-one seconds.

The stomach receives food three times a day. It should be allowed ample room for proper expansion, because it is in constant motion during the period of digestion.

The stomach is located on the left side, below the ribs, and adjoining it are two marvellous organs---the spleen and the pancreas.

On the right side below, and under the floating ribs, is the liver---one of the most vital organs of the body.

The abdominal walls cover and protect the intestines.

You watch the precise, methodical actions of many intricate and delicate mechanical devices and are amazed at their power, regularity and rythm.

But if you could let your eyes follow the various performances of the digestive organs you would witness the old miracle that is ever new.

The foregoing little anatomical sidelights brighten our advertising, because we wish you to know that we make Corsets a serious and scientific study.

When our Miss Scott fits a Corset on a woman, that woman is properly fitted---internally as well as externally.

It would be easier, quicker and more profitable for us to be careless, or purely mercenary and commercial in such matters. But we prefer to be artistic, consistent and conscientious.

Women, women, women, we urge you to be prudent, and wise, and deliberate when you choose a Corset. Don't let vanity lead you into the dangerous error of thinking that grace, beauty and symmetry may be yours simply by coaxing and compressing your forms within the smallest possible space.

The wheels, and springs and levers made for a thick case may be forced into a thin case. But when that is done, the watch ceases to be useful. The cramped, crowded and congested works can't measure time accurately under such conditions.

Your interior organs are infinitely more sensitive and impressionable than the steel coils and spirals of the finest watch that was ever made.

A squeezed-in, contracted, crushed, strangulated figure is one of the ugliest and most artificial things in the world. It's a hard, atrophied, curveless, brazen make-believe.

Don't interfere with the functions of your wonderful organs by indulging in senseless tight-lacing.

We call the Chinese cruel and barbarous because they stunt the growth of their feet. Many of our American women are doing much worse---audaciously displacing, maltreating, restraining and complicating their most delicate and vital internal organs. Atrocious!

Don't try to pack your trunk in an undersized Corset. Get a Corset big enough to accommodate you comfortably from bust to abdomen. Don't be smothered by stays. Bear two points in mind:

First---No two figures are alike.

Second---No two sides of the same figure are alike. Those are our Corset-fitter's problems, and they are thoroughly solved in the alteration room.

Our selling system balks at the old practice of jerking a Corset from the shelves, unfolding it, expatiating on the material and trimming, emphasizing the low price and saying the commonplace things to hurry you into making a quick purchase. We feel our responsibility, as honorable merchants, too deeply to traffic that way.

Today, we ask a woman to retire to a private room and partially undress. When her old Corset has been removed, Miss Scott, or one of her expert assistants, gauges her figure. Long experience renders it comparatively easy for the fitter to decide which of our many models is best adapted for the customers' individual figure. The right one is tried on and necessary alterations are made.

Of course, it is only candid to say that we have to meet and overcome much ignorance, prejudice and nonsense in the way of vanity, and profound folly in insincere notions of the physical elements that constitute beauty.

We also have to contend with your impatience, your real or fancied fatigue---yes, many of you make it divicult for us to realize our ideal in Corset selling. Still, we shall do our best to discount your "nerves" and to dissipate your indifference, by demonstrating that it requires trained skill, natural intelligence, considerable application and time for our people to sell you the only Corset you should wear.

If you are not willing to let us do our best for you, we are frankly not anxious to sell you at all.

Now, don't say we are "uppish." That's not our attitude---not at all.

Let us give you an example: A customer came to us for a Corset. Miss Scott put one on her. It fitted EXACTLY. The customer was pleased and requested it to be sent to her home. This was met by the statement from Miss Scott that she didn't care to send the Corset until it had been altered. "But," said the customer, "it fits perfectly." That was the snare. It did fit perfectly, but this particular woman should not have bought a Corset that fitted. Miss Scott detected an inharmony, a discord---one hip was slightly higher than the other. A Corset that fitted the woman would surely have developed the fault. The high hip would have grown still higher. The trifling irregularity, if indulged, would have become an embarrassing deformity.

The Corset was altered to outline the figure she should have had. What was the result? The distorted hip soon became normal.

We could recite many other instances to prove the benefit of our policy. Curvatures, inflexions, arcuations, rectlinearities, round shoulders, bulging abdomens, depressions, scoop-outs, flaccidness, flatness, rotundities, protrusions, cave-ins, and dozens of other little askews and unsymmetrics of proportion that may be moulded into classic shapeliness by the correct Corset.

Every organ in the trunk—especially heart, liver and diaphram, ribs, spleen and pancreas—may be injuriously affected by the wrong Corset. And sympathetically, many other organs—because all of them are closely related—may be enfeebled or vitiated. A Corset that condenses the lungs not only retards breathing, but involves the purity of the blood supply. The system then absorbs deadly poisons. Follow the effects of a wrong Corset a little further. It causes the heart, not only to pump insufficient blood to the brain, but a poor quality of blood. This produces a long line of serious disorders that keep general practitioners and specialists busy.

All women who wish to be virile, hardy and puissant; all wives who desire strong, beautiful and sound children; all women who would escape weakness, debility, languor, asthenia and invalidism should give earnest thought to the Corsets they wear.

Don't enervate yourself; don't incapacitate posterity.

Women of the stage frequently influence the popular taste in respect to Fashions. This should not be true. Women in other walks of life should not attempt to borrow beauty ideas from actresses. Great tragediennes have rarely been really beautiful—even before the glamour and lustre of flickering footlights.

Rachel—that sombre-browed, tragic-eyed gifted Jewess; rich-red-lipped, golden-voiced Ristori, her ardent Italian rival; Agnes Ethel; haggard Clara Morris; pale Sara—none of these had beauty, except when seen in pictures. Mme. Nazimova is a distinct physical type—an eely, sinuous, flexuous Russian writhe—a curling exotic blossom—fascinating and bewildering as a deft and exquisite twister, but no more formed for wifehood and motherhood than a queen cobra. Don't strive for such spidery slenderness by thwarting and suppressing nature until you are sans bust,, sans hips, sans everything except head, arms, and legs—a shriveled, emaciated subject for the hobble skirt.

Here's a bit of advice to women: When cooking, sewing, bathing the baby, walking, dancing, motoring, playing bridge, tennis or golf, type-writing, standing behind the counter—wear a Corset that supports you, gives you plenty breathing space, and allows you ample freedom of movement. Be sure of those points yourself—and trust to the expert for all other details of fit.

MONEY AND LIVES TAKEN BY BANDITS

Southern Pacific Train Is Held Up.

Ogden, Utah, January 3.—Southern Pacific train No. 1, the Overland Limited, westbound, was held up by two masked bandits at an early hour this morning at Reese, 9 miles west of Ogden. One negro porter, William Davis, was shot and instantly killed, and another porter, A. W. Taylor, was mortally wounded. A passenger was slightly wounded. One hundred passengers on the train were relieved of their valuables. The robbers did not attempt to enter the express car, but devoted their entire attention to the Pullmans, where they made a rich haul among the California-bound passengers, holding the train for more than an hour.

After completing their work, the robbers drove away in a vehicle.

Robbed Two Girls.

About four miles from Reese they met two girls who were returning home from a dance. One of the robbers very politely requested them to hand over their purses and to "beat it." Although frightened, the girls succeeded in getting a good description of the bandits, which tallied with that furnished by the passengers and train crew.

After robbing the two girls, the daughters of Bishop Waymont, of the Mormon church at Warren, the highwaymen drove toward the city.

A posse of officers have tracked two bandits, believed to have held up the Overland Limited, to a point four miles beyond the scene of the hold-up. They are said to be headed toward this city. The money loss among passengers was from $2,000 to $2,500.

ENTERS 34TH TERM AS CLERK OF COURT

J. W. Groover, of Thomasville, Has Made an Enviable Record.

Thomasville, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—On the 1st day of January, 1877, J. W. Groover first took the oath of office as clerk of the superior court of Thomas county and yesterday he entered upon his thirty-fourth term of office, having served continuously since that time.

During the whole time that he has been in office Clerk Groover has never missed a term of court and in all these years the holidays he has taken from business amount to only thirty days. Mr. Groover is a confederate veteran, who sacrificed one leg to the cause he loved, but in spite of his missing limb, he never fails to get to his office promptly at 7:30 o'clock every morning, regardless of weather conditions, a record of which few can boast who have two good legs to carry them. Of his popularity, Mr. Groover's continued election to the office attests.

HOLDING SUPERIOR COURT WITHOUT A GRAND JURY

Judge Fite Pays His Respects to Blind Tigers in Opening Whitfield Court.

Dalton, Ga., January 3.—(Special.) The first of the new terms of superior court of Whitfield county, under the law providing for four terms a year, is in session. A noticeable feature is that the court is being run without a grand jury.

In opening the court yesterday, Judge Fite referred to the blind tigers, pistol toting, gambling and lewd houses, saying that whisky was the constant companion of the other three, and infinitely worse than either; that blind tigers might be suppressed without suppressing all or either of the others, but that neither of the others will ever be suppressed without suppressing blind tigers.

PAST MILLION MARK POSTAL FIGURES GO

$1,052,868.86 Total Receipts of Atlanta Postoffice.

$1,052,868.86.

These are the exact figures of the total receipts of the Atlanta postoffice during the year ending December 31, 1910, as issued by Postmaster McKee on Tuesday.

These are figures to juggle with. They speak in no mistakable terms of the growth of Atlanta. Her prosperity can be estimated most accurately therefrom.

The receipts for 1910 show a gain of 10 per cent over 1909, the receipts of 1909 totaling $945,354.71, a net gain for 1910 of $107,514.15.

This is the first time in the history of the Atlanta postoffice that the receipts for a year have passed the million-dollar mark and Postmaster McKee and his assistants are justly proud of this showing.

For the first time in the history of the Atlanta postoffice the receipts for a month exceed $100,000, the month of December showing a grand total of $100,405.10. The nearest approach to this mark before was in October of the past year, when the receipts reached $96,160.74.

So Postmaster McKee can point with pride to his office breaking two records, the monthly receipt total and the yearly receipt total.

EX-CONVICT KILLS NEGRO.

Wilson McKensie Captured and Taken to Lafayette, Ala.

West Point, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Curtiss Todd was killed at his home, 10 miles from here on the Fredonia road, last Saturday by Wilson McKensie, who bore several other names and had just returned from the penitentiary.

Todd was an intelligent, honest negro and was respected in the community in which he lived. He was just ready to come to town when, it is said, McKensie shot him twice in the face and head, killing him instantly. McKensie made his escape, but was caught later in LaGrange by Sheriff Walton and was carried through here to Lafayette, Ala., to jail last night.

The cause of the killing is unknown.

16-YEAR-OLD GIRL ELOPES AT ATHENS

Athens, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Leaving the breakfast table yesterday morning to answer the door bell at her father's home, Miss Jennie Fears, an exceptionally pretty and popular young girl of only 16, daughter of one of the prominent families of Athens, stepped out into the street with Mr. Frederick Willard, a young man who came to Athens some time ago from South Carolina, and the pair repaired to a Clayton street drug store, where, in the prescription booth, Rev. H. C. Compton, known over the country as the "drummer-preacher," made them man and wife.

The father of the bride objected very seriously to the marriage on account of the youth of his daughter, but the preacher who performed the early-morning ceremony stated that he did not know any better than to fill the prescription written by the ordinary.

The license was procured at Watkinsville in an adjoining county.

THEATERS

"The Merry Widow."
(At the Grand.)

Tonight at the Grand, "The Merry Widow" will sing her last song of the present season to an Atlanta audience and, as at previous performances, there will, no doubt, be a large throng of Atlantans to witness and hear this attractive and delightful opera. It is conceded that Miss Wilber makes one of the best "Merry Widows" who ever appeared in Atlanta, while Charles Meakins is there "with the goods" as Danilo. The supporting company is an excellent one throughout, and "The Merry Widow" is a production that no one should miss.

"The Lottery Man."
(At the Grand.)

In the comedy of "The Lottery Man," by Rida Johnson Young, which the Shuberts will present at the Grand January 5, 6 and 7, with William Rosell in the name part, use is made of perhaps one of the most novel "beats" ever found in the columns of the press. The central figure in "The Lottery Man" is Jack Wright, a newsgatherer, played by Mr. Rosell. He is a warm friend of Foxy Payton, who owns the paper, and when he gets a Wall street tip, Wright goes to his chief for money, promising as security, in the event of failure, his pledge to turn into the paper one of the biggest stories New York has ever known. As the tip fails, Wright is compelled to make good. This he does by offering himself as the prize in a lottery which is to be conducted by the newspaper. Naturally the coupons appeal mostly to women and the campaign among the thousands of contestants waxes warm. Shortly after Jack has offered himself as the human prize, he falls in love with Helen Heyer, which fact causes him to deeply regret his entry into such a foolish scheme.

Vaudeville.
(At the Forsyth.)

Two audiences that tested the holding capacity of the busy theater on Monday, a turn-away matinee and another crowded night attendance on Tuesday is the record that the Forsyth is making this week. The announced feature "The Ballet of Light" is perhaps the most attractive act that has been played on the Forsyth stage. It is simply beautiful and following a round of comedy and music concludes one of the best entertainments ever offered in the vaudeville line here.

Isabelle D'Armond, the dainty musical comedy star who has scored such a triumph since her vaudeville entrance, came unannounced for the week and her own charming ability coupled with the rare talent of George Moore, who is assisting her, makes this one of the most pleasant features of the bill.

Beulah Poynter.
(At the Lyric.)

The dainty little actress, Beulah Poynter, who is so favorably remembered by local theatergoers on account of her several appearances here as the heroine of Lena Rivers, is duplicating her former success this week at the Lyric in her new play "The Little Girl He Forgot." The old, old story of love and trust is driven home in the most forcible manner, and the sympathies of the audience are with the little girl from the beginning. When all things turn out right in the last act everybody is pleased and happy. Miss Poynter essays the part of June, the Swamp Angel, and her work is at all times refreshing and pleasing.

A MARRIAGE A DAY IN TWO COUNTIES

Athens, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Fifteen marriages were recorded in one issue last week of The News-Herald, of Gwinnett county. It is believed that the record number of licenses was issued in that county for the week beginning Christmas day. There were issued in the county during the past year exactly one license for every day the ordinary's office was opened, there being five times as many licenses issued to white people as to colored people.

In Clarke county there were issued, with considerably less population than Gwinnett, 381 licenses—166 to white couples and 215 to colored.

CHATTAHOOCHEE RIVER RISING AT COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ga., January 3.—(Special.) The Chattahoochee river has risen 15 or 20 feet today, and tonight the waters are still climbing upward. Operation of the mills at the lower falls will probably be impracticable tomorrow.

Heavy rains fell today, and at 8 o'clock tonight a freezing temperature prevailed.

STOLE CLOTHING OF CORPSE CHARGE AGAINST THIS NEGRO

The palm for real daring among the colored brethren of the city, for that insouciant defiance of the powers of darkness which characterizes only the most intrepid of the African race, was awarded yesterday by the police department to one Sam Hawkins, formerly a porter at the Barclay & Brandon undertaking establishment, who was arrested for larceny from a dead man.

Sam saw something that he admired in the way of clothes, and because of his education among the dear departed he did not hesitate to purloin the same. That they were "laid out" did not matter to him, and he knew that he would be able to wear them down Auburn avenue, which is the Peachtree of Darktown, with the same grace as if they had been made for him. He also went into the trunk of the deceased and took sundry other articles, ties, shirts, vests and these were found with stolen goods of other deaders when his apartments were searched. Sam at first denied the theft when arrested by Detectives Hollingsworth and Cowan, but later confessed.

He is now awaiting a hearing before Judge Broyles.

Orr Named Receiver.

Macon, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Judge Emory Speer today appointed Oliver Orr receiver for H. J. Sapp, music and jewelry merchant of Eastman, upon the application of creditors. The new appointee qualified and went immediately to take charge.

ATLANTA, GA., January 4, 1911.

One more year to make history for Georgia prosperity.

The present tariff board is too wise to be a hard hitter.

The mercury falls, but trust-prices are frozen to the spot.

Ohio will pay some attention to reformed voting this year.

Naturally, a blizzard has to freeze to the Prosperity country.

Depend on it, Taft will not allow T. R. to hug him to death.

In 1911 the building record will be kept up to the skyscraping limit.

At any rate, don't break the Golden Rule. It's such an old-time souvenir.

Some of the 1912 brethren are feathering their nests with snowflakes.

With books to burn, how the Indiana authors must smile at the coal trust.

Brisk, healthy, brightening business weather, and "all's well with the world."

All the poems with violets in them have been marked "Hold," and placed in cold storage.

The Colonel is certainly a changed man, when he can rest up so long from the limelight.

Uncle Joe Cannon will have many frazzled gavels as souvenirs, but no insurgent cemeteries.

The sugar trust isn't different. They all promise to be good if let off without a whipping.

With the people watching every move, congress will have to play a mighty straight game.

A man clothed in nothing but a doubtful vindication has a hard time in the blizzards of this world.

There are New Year petitions to temper the winds to shorn lambs, but not to whitewash senators.

"Do we want smaller money?" asks The Texas Star.

Bless you, yes! Diminutive favors thankfully received during the short season.

Still, the aviator that braves the frozen regions higher up is comforted by the thought that he is gathering gold enough to thaw him in this high-priced old world.

A New Jersey man said in court that he had never heard of Woodrow Wilson. There's no help for it: They just can't get the right limelight focus unless they run for president.

"Colonel Roosevelt now will turn to the Solid South," says The Baltimore Evening Sun.

Always welcome, but just now the ice is too thin for fancy skating.

Disappointed as to a Mexican invasion, The Houston Post wishes that Texas could annex Colonel Roosevelt. If that isn't enough to stir the Colonel to action, we shall be ready to believe that he really is "a silent conservative."

This year be realized the dream of the poet, in the invocation to "Peace:"—

"Peace on the whirring marts!
Peace where the scholar thinks, the hunter roams;
Peace!—God of Peace!—Peace, peace in all our homes,
And Peace in all our hearts!"

SCORE ONE FOR MAYOR WINN!

Mayor Winn's action yesterday in bringing the park board to its senses, and in forcing it to abandon its utterly and absolutely untenable position that the general manager of Atlanta's park system should be manager in name only, was a master stroke, and if the mayor does as well in meeting other emergencies as he has done in this, the city will have more reason than ever to felicitate itself upon the selection of its head for the next two years.

For years, the people of Atlanta endured, more or less patiently, the presence of petty personal politics and manipulation in the police board, the water board and other of the bodies with delegated municipal authority.

Too often for enumeration, the lost motion, the inefficiency, the waste and the folly growing out of "dummy" heads of departments have been established.

The practice—inseparable from board autocracy—of placing a man at the head of the police, or any other department, holding him to a strict accountability and then stripping him of authority by appointing employees over his head—

Has been condemned by the people of Atlanta!

The destruction of discipline and efficiency by making department employees dependent upon ward "heeling" and political influence rather than merit for continuance in office, has been too often proved in the city's history to require recountal.

Yet the park board was about to make that mistake—indeed, had made it, but reconsidered its ill advised action upon the sound advice of its new member—the mayor.

General Manager Carey adopted the only honorable course in the premises by at once resigning when the board assumed the functions that rightly belonged to the general manager. His situation was an impossible one, the moment he was made the nominal head of a department for the conduct of which he was to be held responsible, with men under him who knew they could disregard his authority and go to political "headquarters" for safety and vindication.

The progress of this city, the efficiency and honesty of its administration, and its reputation at home and abroad are too precious to be cast on the hazard of picayunish partisan plots and maneuvering!

The outcome of yesterday's meeting of the park board is highly significant, and it is to be hoped that its lesson will not be lost.

PRESIDENT FINLEY'S MILEAGE STATEMENT.

In a commendable effort at plain dealing with the public President W. W. Finley, of the Southern Railway, in a statement printed elsewhere, voices the defense of the railroads in this section with regard to their objectionable mileage book rule.

The substance of Mr. Finley's plea is that the present rule, requiring that mileage be exchanged for tickets before boarding trains, is necessary for auditing transportation as between railroads subscribing to the interchangeable mileage arrangement.

So far, so good!

Explaining, in extenso, the reason and justice of the regulation, President Finley then admits that other great systems of railroads do not require this inconvenient formality, but holds that such policy on their part is irrelevant to the situation in the south.

That is exactly where Mr. Finley, in good faith unquestionably, overlooks the pith of the entire contention.

If the most highly organized railroads in the country—such as the Pennsylvania and the New York Central—can lift mileage on trains without prejudice to accurate auditing—

Why cannot the Southern Railway and every other railroad in the southeastern agreement do the same thing?

In all reason we submit that the railroads of the south cannot teach the Pennsylvania or the New York Central anything in the way of organization or accuracy in auditing and protecting transportation.

Then in failing to extend to their patrons the same facilities extended by other and greater systems, the southern railroads confess themselves deficient either in progressiveness or in plain business resource.

But Mr. Finley insists that exchange of mileage for tickets is indispensable to insure that each line over which the mileage is used shall be credited with its fair share of coupons.

Very well, then!

How simple it would be for the road selling a thousand-mile book to provide that its coupons may be lifted on its own lines, and if the auditing operation with other lines is so difficult objection might not be offered to the present system of exchange of coupons for tickets to apply only with the interchangeable feature of the book.

Such a regulation would remove what has been, in Georgia, the chief source of complaint, the ground of the grievance the Travelers' Protective Association is now about to bring before the state railroad commission.

It is, at the last analysis, a question of facilities.

The Pennsylvania, the New York Central and other lines, afford their patrons the facilities asked by Georgia travelers and seemingly have no difficulty in keeping their accounts straight.

Why not the same facilities in the south!

HUMANE PENOLOGY.

Not in recent months has any single utterance more clearly set forth the twentieth century conception of penology than the following expression from R. V. Ladow, leading parole official of the United States department of justice:

> The department has decided not to single out any individual by name. The released convict is entitled to forget and have others forget his past mistakes, if he becomes a productive and useful citizen. No parole will be granted to any prisoner unless he has some friend outside to give him employment. The prisoners thus released on parole are in much better position than those who serve out their term and are turned out upon the world with nothing but their memories, a new suit of clothes, $5 in gold and the admonition to "be good."

The man or woman who has sinned against society and expiated the sin, is entitled "to forget and have others forget," if he or she "becomes a productive and useful citizen."

The view is not only humane, it is also common sense.

Theoretically, one of the foremost ends of justice is reclamation.

Reclamation means that the released convict shall thereafter be a contributor to, instead of, as formerly, a drain upon society.

If he is to be branded wherever he goes as a "ticket-of-leave" man or a discharged felon, he must carry through life a heavy handicap against achieving constructive citizenship.

Equally pertinent is another phase to which Mr. Ladow directs attention when he says, "The investigations made by our parole boards have convinced me that the family of the prisoner suffers vastly more than the man behind the bars." This same aspect has recently been discussed in Atlanta, from the economic as well as the humanitarian aspect, and is likely to be still further discussed as men get clearer vision of cause and effect in crime, its punishment and prevention.

FINLEY GIVES RAILROAD VIEW OF MILEAGE EXCHANGE RULE

President W. W. Finley, of the Southern railway, in a communication addressed to The Constitution, presents the railroads' viewpoint of the mileage exchange rule which has become so obnoxious to the traveling men that they are endeavoring through conference with the roads to bring about its modification or repeal.

President Finley says:

Editor Constitution: Recognizing frankly the obligations of a railway to the public which it serves, I have, since I have been charged with the management of the Southern railway, availed myself of every proper opportunity to present to the public matters affecting the relations between the railways and their patrons. At the same time I have availed myself of the courteous co-operation of the press of the south to discuss matters in which the southern people and the railways are vitally interested, and in connection with which I am endeavoring to make the Southern railway a factor of increasing helpfulness in the field of southern development.

My experience with this policy has convinced me that it is the proper one. I have confidence in the fairness and justice of the southern people. I am of the south and for it. It is with confidence in being given a fair hearing, therefore, that I seek to present to the public opinion of the south a matter vitally affecting the railway companies, not in any spirit of controversy, but as a plain, straightforward statement of a business proposition. I feel sure that this course will commend itself to the public. This proposition is the regulation requiring the exchange of interchangeable mileage book coupons for tickets.

The railway companies operating in the southeastern states have on sale interchangeable mileage coupon books which are sold at a substantial reduction from the single-trip ticket rates. These mileage coupon books are not passenger tickets, but the coupons they contain are exchangeable for tickets at the ticket offices of any of the railways that are parties to the agreement under which they are sold. The purchaser of one of these books has the advantage of buying coupons at a wholesale rate which are exchangeable for transportation.

As each railway which is a party to the interchangeable mileage book arrangement sells books the coupons of which are exchangeable for tickets not only on that road, but on each of the other participating roads, and as neither the selling road nor any other road which is under obligations to receive the coupons has any means of knowing how many of the coupons may be used on any particular road, an infallible system of interline accounting is absolutely necessary in order that each company shall be assured of its proper proportion of the revenue derived from the sale of each mileage coupon book. This, I think, is a self-evident business proposition which will commend itself to every business man.

The best evidence that a railway can have that it has honored mileage coupons sold by another railway is the possession of the coupons themselves. It follows that the basis of any reliable system of interline accounting must be a plan which will insure the preservation of every such coupon which each road receives. This is accomplished by a rule requiring the owner of a mileage coupon book to exchange coupons for his ticket in the same way that a traveler who does not own such a book exchanges his money for a ticket. Mileage coupons are the equivalent of money to the road which receives them, and, under this system, they are surrounded by the same safeguards as is the money which the agent receives for tickets. It is universally conceded to be a reasonable rule of accounting that a railroad should, in its dealings with passengers who purchase transportation with money, require that its agent at a station should receive and account for the money and issue a ticket therefor, and that another and independent agent on the train, namely, the conductor or ticket collector, should receive and account for the ticket, thus, in an accounting way, one agent being a check on the other. If this is reasonable as to a money transaction, it seems to follow that it is also reasonable as to a transaction in which one company is required to receive coupons issued by another company, for such coupons are, as above stated, equivalent to money.

Under this system the ticket agent handles the money or its equivalent in mileage coupons, sells the ticket, and thus makes a record of what the company has sold. Another man collects the ticket and thus makes a record that the ticket has been used and must account for it. The agent must account for the selling price in money or mileage coupons, as the case may be, and the coupons from books sold by other roads constitute a claim on the respective roads by which they have been sold. Every business man knows that such records and checks are essential to any proper system of accounting and that every claim for money from another business establishment must be supported by evidence of the claim. The railways have been unable to devise any other system that will so certainly prevent complications in interline accounting and so effectively safeguard the revenues of each company.

No one claims that it is unreasonable for a carrier to require a traveler without a mileage book to buy a ticket instead of paying the money on the train. Is it unreasonable, therefore, that the man who uses a mileage coupon book and gets his passage at a lower rate should also be required to buy his ticket, the only difference being that he pays in coupons while the other pays in money?

That this is a reasonable view of the matter is also shown by the fact that the regulations in effect in southeastern territory have been susained by the supreme court of South Carolina and the railroad commissions of Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

In the central west, including the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky, there has been in effect for a number of years a system under which the purchaser pays $25 for a 1,000-mile coupon book. He must exchange the coupons for tickets just the same as in southeastern territory, with the additional requirement that he shall sign the ticket when it is taken up on the train. On the return to the railway company of the cover of the book, showing the entire use of the coupons, $5 is returned to him, and not until then does the purchaser receive the benefit of the reduced rate. These regulations were called into question in a case before the United States interstate commerce commission, in which that commission said:

"In a word, the right to use exchange orders and mileage books is in the nature of a privilege voluntarily accorded by carriers under their tariffs and must be accepted by those who use such special fares with all lawful and non-discriminatory limitations that may be attached to them."

It is sometimes alleged that, on account of inadequate force at the ticket window, passengers with interchangeable mileage coupon books are required to wait in line so long that they are unable to have their coupons exchanged before train time or do not have sufficient time to check their baggage. So far as the railway company is responsible for such conditions they can be corrected, and it is the duty of the carrier to correct them.

The fact that a system different from that prevailing in the southeast and the central west has grown up on some of the railroads of the country in other sections, should not, it seems to me, condemn a regulation which is business-like and reasonable in itself, and subjects the users of mileage books to no greater inconvenience than the users of money in the purchase of tickets. In all frankness, I must say that I do not believe that any road permitting the use of interchangeable mileage on its trains could undertake to defend that system as business-like or in any way protecting its accounting.

I am sure that the people of the south appreciate that the first public interest in transportation is in adequacy of facilities and efficiency of service, and that it is recognized that ability to provide these is dependent, among other things, upon the carriers being cordially supported in the application of rules which are requisite for the protection of the revenues which they receive for transportation.

I hope it will be clearly understood that I am not writing in any controversial spirit, but, believing in the policy of frankly dealing with the public, I am endeavoring to explain a business proposition which is now under more or less public discussion.

I trust that the public will appreciate that the regulation referred to has not been adopted in any spirit of subjecting passengers to inconvenience or to a vexatious or troublesome regulation, but only for the purpose of securing a reasonable method of accounting and of establishing those checks which are found necessary in every well-organized business, and that upon this statement and a just consideration of the whole subject, this regulation will have the support of those who use the mileage coupon book, some of whom may not heretofore have had a clear understanding of the business necessity for the regulation in question.

W. W. FINLEY,
President Southern Railway Co.
Washington, D. C., January 3, 1911.

Answering Haldeman's Attack

Editor Constitution: Will you please grant me space to correct an erroneous statement made by the press dispatches concerning Christian Science and Mrs. Stetson.

Some time ago Mrs. Stetson was found to be teaching and practicing that which was not Christian Science, and refused to make any change in the practice. She was then given a fair trial and expelled from the body, Mrs. Eddy giving her public approval of the verdict.

Mrs. Stetson is thus outside of the Christian Science body and we ask that the public keep this clearly in mind and in no way hold us responsible for any of her vagaries or delusions. This is a matter of public record, and the Rev. Haldeman, of New York, must be aware of this when he tries to put out the impression that we are one and the same, and that because this woman is preaching foolishness, Christian Science must suffer extinction.

The work referred to as written by this gentleman was such a glaring mass of misrepresentation of Christian Science that even the ministers are longer refusing to quote him. His statement in your Sunday paper, "That Christian Scientists are moral bankrupts," very fairly represents this gentleman's animus and reliability. I am sure, Mr. Editor, that neither you nor anyone of your readers, however much they may be opposed to Christian Science, but would be willing to vouch that our lives in this and other communities are above and beyond any suspicion of any charge of immorality.

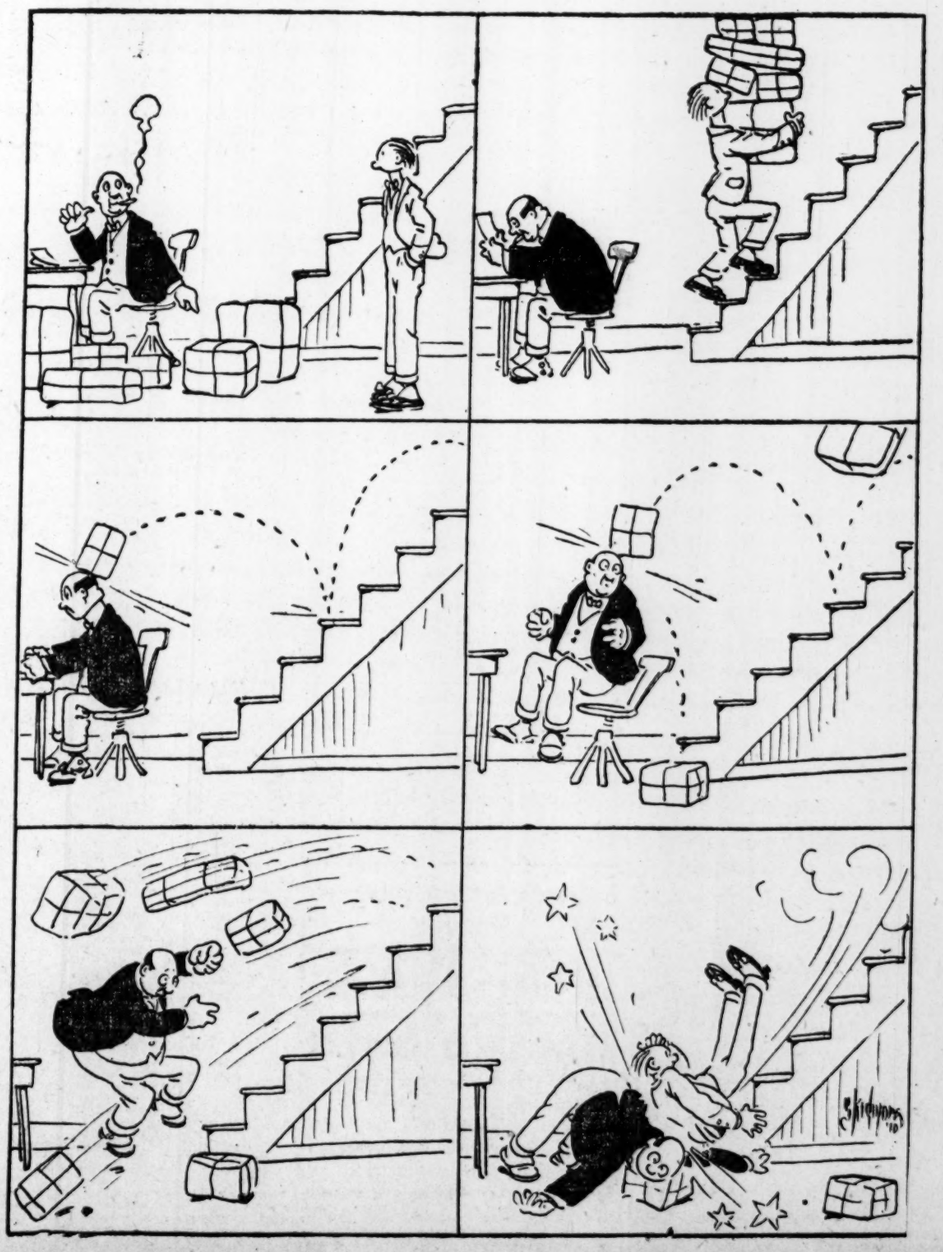

If this gentleman could learn to let his tongue and pen be ruled by that love and charity which the Master taught he might yet find out that a constructionist is always more valuable to any community than a destructionist.

Henley, resigned, the hours of election to be between 6 a. m. and 6 p. m. at the council chamber. Dr. Henley, who is one of the most popular citizens of College Park, owing to the press of private business, tendered his resignation at the last regular meeting of council and it was accepted with reluctance, as all felt that it was a distinct loss to the city not to have him on its board of aldermen. Several prominent citizens have been nominated as probable candidates to succeed the doctor, but as yet none have come out with a positive announcement to the voters.

SOME GOOD STORIES TOLD ABOUT CITY OFFICIALS

Is Out of the Fight.

When ex-Mayor Maddox was throwing bouquets and making recommendations in his final address to council, Alderman John W. Grant, chairman of the finance committee, whispered to one of his colleagues:

"Bob Maddox is getting powerful liberal with his recommendations since he is no longer in the thick of the fight."

Exercised Double Power.

During the inauguration ceremonies at Taft hall Monday night, when Mayor Winn was making his address, some of the soldier boys on the upper floor were marching around and making considerable noise. Mayor Pro Tem. E. E. Pomeroy, who is also colonel of the Fifth regiment, dispatched a messenger to the soldiers, and the marching quickly stopped. This caused Councilman Harrison to remark:

"Alderman and Colonel Pomeroy exercised two powers at the same time. As mayor pro tem., he wanted that noise stopped, and as colonel of the regiment he had it stopped."

Mixed Up on Halls.

They are telling a good story on Councilman James R. Nutting, newly elected from the sixth ward, which Councilman Jim is warmly denying. He says it is just one of those hoaxes that the boys will sometimes get off on a clever fellow.

The story that is going around is that when the new councilman decided to pay his first visit to the city hall he went to the old postoffice and tried to break in. The old postoffice is the building that has been bought for the new city hall. Just how the new councilman got mixed up (if the story is true) cannot be surmised, but it is stated that he called to a policeman and asked if the city hall had been closed up.

Has Gone Up Higher.

When Alderman John W. Grant Monday night, at Taft hall, seconded the nomination of Alderman John S. Candler for mayor pro tem., he said, among other things:

"Alderman Candler has privately told me that, after having served as a supreme court judge of Georgia, he thought there was less responsibility and glory attached to that office than to the one of alderman of the city of Atlanta."

CITIZENS COMPLAIN ABOUT TWO STREETS

They Say Street Car Company Put Down a Bad Pavement.

Great complaint is being made by a number of citizens because of the condition of Grant street and Glennwood avenue since they were double-tracked by the street car company. The streets, it is said, are now simply a mass of mud and slush.

Before the double tracks were laid Grant street and Glennwood avenue had good pavements of rock and chert. Along came the street car company, tore up the streets, almost their entire width, put back the pavement and then attempted to roll it. If there are now any rocks there, say the complaining citizens, they are out of sight and the chert has been replaced by a lot of mud and Georgia clay. The trouble seems to have been that the chert was not kept properly separated from the clay and the repaving was not done in a first-class manner.

The law requires the street car company, whenever it tears up a street, to restore it to the condition in which it was found. It is the duty of the officials having charge of the streets to see that this is done.

The complaint from property owners and those who travel the streets come in no uncertain measure, and they state unless something is done at once to have this matter properly attended to an appeal will be made to the mayor and general council.

Arrested for Hold-Up.

Macon, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Robert Smith, a negro, who was two days ago taken in a crap game, is lodged in Bibb county jail under charge of having been associated in the hold-up and robbery of H. L. Howard, the young son of Dr. Howard, at the foot of Singer Hill during the holidays. Howard resisted the robber, fought him desperately and was himself shot, but he got the hat and revolver of the negro. Two negroes were said to be in the scheme. Another negro, who was robbed earlier the same night, believes Smith is one of the robbers.

West Point School Opens.

West Point, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—The West Point public school opened with fine attendance today, considering the very inclement weather. The growth of the school has been so great in the last year that it became necessary to erect an additional building to accommodate the large number of pupils. E. C. Aiken fills the place left vacant by the resignation of E. Dillard in the high school. Miss Emma Adams has second grade and one-half of third grade, Miss Nettie Zachry has charge of the department of music.

PARK BOARD WOULD IMPROVE LAKEWOOD

Resolution Is Passed Asking $10,000 for That Purpose.

Important action was taken by the park board yesterday afternoon in regard to the improvement of Lakewood.

Commissioner Frank Wilby introduced a resolution asking the city council for an appropriation of $10,000 this year in order that a start might be made on the work.

The resolution also provided for a request to the county to help do the work to be done this year.

Under the resolution, 100 acres were set aside for exposition purposes, 100 acres for playgrounds, and the balance for a public park.

Mr. Wilby made a strong talk in behalf of the movement, and his resolution was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Wilby asked for a report from the general manager in regard to the widening of Cherokee avenue, and the general manager stated that the county board informed him that the work had been passed up, but could not be done last year because the dirt with which to make the fills could not be secured. Councilman Harrison now had the matter up, and was trying to find the dirt.

Mr. Wilby stated that he knew where the dirt could be found.

It is believed this important work will be done early this year.

FRIENDS OF PRICE ARE ENCOURAGED

Oconee Man in the Race for Agriculture Commission.

Hon. J. D. Price, of Oconee county, passed through Atlanta yesterday on his way to Griffin, where he goes to attend the meeting of the board of directors of the state experiment station at Experiment, near Griffin, the meeting taking place today.

Mr. Price was chairman of the agricultural committee of the senate two years ago, and has already announced his intention of making the race for commissioner of agriculture two years hence, at which time it is understood that Commissioner Hudson will not be a candidate for re-election, but will offer for congress from the third district.

HON. J. D. PRICE,
Of Oconee, senator from the twenty-seventh, who is in race for commissioner of agriculture.

Senator Price has already, in a quiet way, inaugurated his campaign, and his friends say that he is receiving most encouraging assurances of support from all over the state.

Charles Harris, West Point.

West Point, Ga., January 3.—The funeral of George Harris, who died in Tampa, Fla., last Wednesday, was delayed until today as the body reached West Point last night instead of Saturday as expected. The services at the home were conducted by Dr. E. Z. F. Golden, pastor of the First Baptist church. The Knights of Pythias then took charge of the services at the grave. The friends of the family extend to them their deepest sympathy in their great sorrow.

The Body Is a Fat Factory

When a man or a woman grows fat and huge, flabby layers of this worthless flesh makes them miserable, it is a certain sign that somewhere within the organism of that man or woman there is something radically wrong. The healthy man or woman digests all that is good in food and throws off in a natural manner all that is bad. This is what the digestive juices are made for. When these juices are weakened or too powerful they cannot get the good things out of the nourishment we eat, and hence they turn into the blood that which makes fat. It is very simple to correct these juices in a fat person. This secret has been demonstrated in the famous Marmola Tablets which now have such a tremendous sale. They reduce fat at the rate of from 12 to 15 ounces a day. They correct the faulty juices and give to the body the very nutrition it needs. They remove fat in a natural manner, but they do it so quickly as to be almost beyond belief. You do not have to diet or exercise and you may eat what you will. These little tablets are the result of a demand on the part of the public for a form of the famous Marmola prescription that will permit a fat person to carry his fat reducer with him at all times, so that each meal will add no more fat to his body. Marmola Tablets are sold by every druggist, or you may write the Marmola Company, 287 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and a case will be sent you privately by mail. The price of Marmola Tablets is 75 cts. everywhere.

SCHOOLS OPEN WITH SPLENDID ATTENDANCE AFTER HOLIDAYS

Surfeited with sweets, tired of their toys, glad to be able to meet with each other and compare the glories of the holidays, all the school children of Atlanta returned to their duties yesterday.

And before the week is gone the old routine will be in full force everywhere; and Christmas and New Year's will be forgotten in the anticipation of the next holiday.

The majority of the old pupils were on hand for the opening day, few absentees being marked; and, in addition, the school roll will be greatly enlarged by the number of new pupils who come in at the beginning of each year.

Tuesday the office of the superintendent was packed with applicants for admission cards; and Superintendent Slaton says that it will be the same for several days to come.

SHE PULLS TRIGGER AND THEN REGRETS

Mrs. W. R. Patterson Sorry After Trying Suicide.

"There was no reason in the world why my wife should have shot herself," said W. R. Patterson, the husband of the young woman who yesterday morning shot herself through the left lung at her apartments at 141 Capitol avenue. "We have never had any trouble, and were as happy as could be."

Mr. Patterson reached the city Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, after having been informed over the wire of his wife's act. He went immediately to the Grady hospital, and was admitted for a few minutes to Mrs. Patterson's room. He was very much upset, and his manner was gentle and affectionate. Though he was allowed to remain only five minutes, as Mrs. Patterson can speak only with difficulty on account of the lung wound, his visit did his wife much good, the physicians say.

He was on his way home, when he received the wire that his wife had shot herself. Though the impression seems to be that Mrs. Patterson attempted suicide, Mr. Patterson says that he is convinced that it was accidental. "She had a gun always in the room, but she did not know much about handling it," Mr. Patterson said. He admitted, however, that she was of a very nervous temperament, and that she was probably worried over his delay in not reaching the city Sunday, at which time he telegraphed her to expect him. Later he sent another telegram, saying that he would not be able to arrive before Tuesday; but the message did not reach Mrs. Patterson's home until after she had shot herself.

Mr. Patterson had been away for several weeks on a visit to his parents in Missouri, and for a trip to Oklahoma. Upon his failure to arrive on Sunday, Mrs. Patterson became nervous and worried, and on Monday night asked her friend, Miss Josephine Heyfron, to spend the night with her. Early Tuesday morning Miss Heyfron arose and went into the front room. While there she heard the shot, and, returning, found her friend lying upon the tiled floor with a bullet wound through her left lung. The bullet entered just below the sixth rib in the front, and came out at the back at the eighth. Barring pneumonia, Mrs. Patterson has a good chance for recovery, the physicians say.

No cause can be assigned by the friends of Mrs. Patterson for the deed, except her anxiety for her husband, which, in her nervous condition, was magnified by her until it possibly affected her reason.

The statement of a friend made yesterday was that "they were one of the most devoted couples that I ever saw, and there was positively no cause for Mrs. Patterson to shoot herself. She has never been well, and her nervous condition has been serious for a long time. She is easily worried, and when her husband wired positively that he would be here at a certain time, and then did not come, she imagined all sorts of things."

Mrs. Patterson realized what she had done as soon as she had pulled the trigger of the pistol, which she held close to her heart. She never lost consciousness at all, and those who ran to her state that her first words were of regret for the deed.

SHOOTS MAN DEAD WHO CUT BROTHER

17-Year-Old Buford Boy Is Held at Lawrenceville for Murder.

Lawrenceville, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Sheriff E. S. Garner returned from Buford today with a 17-year-old boy by the name of Cash, and lodged him in jail, charged with murder. Young Cash was out in the woods with an older brother at work when Cain Bagby, a neighbor, came up and demanded 75 cents which he claimed was due him by the elder Cash. A dispute arose over the sum, and Bagby stabbed Cash through the left lung with a pocket knife. Young Cash had a single barrel shotgun in the woods with him, and claims that Bagby started toward him with the knife after cutting his brother, and failing to heed his warning to stop, emptied the contents of his gun into Bagby's body.

Bagby lived about twenty-four hours after being shot, and was buried at Buford yesterday.

A kinsman of the dead man sued out a warrant for Cash's arrest, and he was bound over by Justice W. M. Shelley.

This is the only tragedy enacted in Gwinnett county during the holidays.

MEETING ON MILEAGE DEFERRED BY DEATH

Committee Will Probably Get Together Tomorrow Afternoon on the Question.

The meeting of the special committee which was to meet yesterday for the purpose of considering the mileage proposition was called off because of a death in the family of Chairman W. P. Anderson, which prevented his being present.

This committee, it will be remembered, was chosen from the joint committee representing the T. P. A., the U. C. T. and G. T. A. To it was intrusted the work of securing data which is to be placed before the railroads in the hope of having the officials of the roads see that the object of the mileage book is being defeated by the restrictions which have been placed on its use.

No definite announcement as to when the meeting will be held has been made, but it is stated that the committee will probably meet tomorrow afternoon.

ICE KING ARRIVES FOR A STAY IN CITY

Generally Cold All Over the Country, Says Weather Man.

The Ice King has arrived in Atlanta.

He blew in at an early hour yesterday morning, and all day long he made folk shiver and chatter their teeth.

According to the official weather dopist, the cold wave is general over the country. It will probably last several days.

The Gopher stepped from his cosy place near the radiator and told this near joke:

"'Has anybody seen my automobile cap?' inquired the gentleman, who had his goggles adjusted and heavy coat buttoned up, as his chauffeur tooted a couple of long honk-honks at the gate, notifying him that all was in readiness for a ride.

"'Where is that cap?' he asked the maid. 'Don't anybody know anything about it?' he demanded, growing somewhat impatient. As he started upstairs a second time in search of the missing skypiece, one of his daughters, who was entertaining a friend in the drawing room, noticing his excitement, asked: 'What's the matter, father—lost something?' 'Yes. Have you seen that automobile cap of mine?' 'Automobile cap? Why, yes; I—think—'

"Just then father turned to see his daughter pulling at her hair, and in a minute she handed him his cap. 'What on earth are you doing with it in your hair?' 'Why, I was using it for a rat.' 'A what? Ye gods!' yelled papa, as he pulled it down over his ears and slammed the door."

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Massengale Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale gave their annual informal entertainment to the many members of the Massengale Advertising Agency at their beautiful home, 42 Park street, West End, Monday evening.

Several forms of entertainment were indulged in. A contest in what might be termed an advertising bee, proved the most popular—twenty-five display advertisements had been clipped from magazines, and all traces of the advertiser's name; in fact, every clew that might lead to the identification of the advertisement removed. The ladies' prize was won by Mrs. T. R. Massengale, who named twenty correctly ,and the gentleman's prize went to Mr. G. B. Massengale, who finished with practically a perfect score. There being only three of the twenty-five accounts which he failed to fully identify.

Music and old-fashioned games were indulged in until the wee small hours. It would be difficult to find a more charming hostess than Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale, whose service of delightful refreshments proved a happy interruption to the unique evening program.

The perfect good fellowship that existed among the entire party, "The Esprit de Corps," which is so much in evidence among the members of those who formed a big "Massengale bunch" as they affectionately term it, was constantly in evidence, and the genuine pleasure of guests and hosts was apparent.

The occasion was in a sense a celebration, as the Massengale Advertising Agency has just closed one of the most successful years of its long splendid career of nearly twenty years. They have also enlarged their quarters in the Candler building, until they now occupy practically the entire west side of the sixteenth floor. For a week the entire force has been working day and night in their efforts to keep up with their routine work and dodge the electricians, carpenters and painters.

The executive heads of the various departments were present, and the roll call of the firm was complete with the exceptions of Mr. W. H. Shepard, manager of the printing department; Mr. Walter Cowart, manager of one of the branch offices, and Colonel G. Holman Gardner, manager of the school department, both of these gentlemen having been compelled to miss the annual gathering because of the important out-of-town business for the firm.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Massengale, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rehber, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Hicks, Miss Annie Sue Beall, Miss Isabelle Freeman, Miss Alice May Massengale, Messrs. G. B. Massengale, R. C. Massengale, N. L. Angier, Sig Margon, R. A. Jones, L. B. LeRoy, F. W. Townsend, Henry Butcher, John Young.

To Miss Sowell.

A delightful ending of the old year was a social gathering at the home of Miss Grace Golden, in honor of her visitor, Miss Ethel Sowell, of McDonough, Ga.

Just before the midnight hour approached, a delicious salad course was served.

Those invited to meet Miss Sowell were Misses Margaret Cook, Fanny Blanche Coleman, Isabel Gannon, Inez Kirk, Ella Trimble, Ethel Sowell, Grace Golden, and Messrs. Charles Coleman, Pat Barth, George Brown, Claude Williamson, Scott Coleman, Nail Hartley and Herbert Sauer.

To Mrs. Charles Collier.

The afternoon reception given yesterday by Mrs. Robert Davis was a delightful expression of hospitality, and there was a large company of ladies to meet Mrs. Charles Collier, a recent bride, who was the guest of honor.

Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Collier received in the drawing room, where there was an artistic use of growing narcissus and vases of enchantress carnations, and these flowers were continued in the decoration of the reception floor, except in the dining room.

There the table centerpiece was of the carnations showered with valley lilies. The silver candlesticks had pink shades, and silver dishes held delicious confections in pink. On mantel and buffet were tall silver candlesticks burning pink candles unshaded, and vases of carnations and narcissus.

Mrs. Julian Harris and Miss Louise Collier poured tea and Miss Eleanor Collier and Miss May Haverty served punch.

Others assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Fred Lewis, Mrs. Edward Van Winkle, Mrs. William Hahr of Barnesville, Mrs. Thomas Philip Hinman, Mrs. Julian Harris, Mrs. Rawson Collier, Mrs. Joseph Raine, Jr., Mrs. John Raine, Mrs. Gedding Tupper, Mrs. Rix Stafford, Mrs. Van Astor Batchelor, Mrs. Evelyn Harris, Mrs. Scott Hudson, Mrs. William Glenn, Mrs. Nash Broyles, Mrs. Albert Collier, Mrs. Joseph Eby, Mrs. Martha Boynton and Miss Annie Nutting.

The pretty young hostess was gowned in opal green crepe de chine with an embroidery in silver, and Mrs. Collier wore coral-colored crepe trimmed with gold and crystal embroidery.

Mrs. J. H. McLowell, of Molena, Ga., announces the engagement of her daughter, Henrietta Elizabeth, and Mr. Waldo David Burke, of Atlanta, the marriage to take place on the evening of January 25, at the home of the bride's mother.

DAILY HINT ON FASHIONS

THE LATEST IN FURS.

By Marie Montaigue.

Never, perhaps in the recollection of the fashionable world has fox fur been as fashionable as it is this season. Not only is it in demand for trimming short-haired fur garments, but as a fur for muff and stole sets it has few rivals in popularity. The rare silver fox, it goes without saying, leads the expensive furs, and is slowly seconded by black and white Arctic fox pelts. Cheaper grades of black fox, and of red and gray fox, dyed black, are tipped with white points to simulate that sport of nature—the silver fox. These imitations are often so good that only an expert in furs can distinguish real and "pointed" silver fox.

One of the frenkish fancies of the moment is to wear a long boa made of one black and one white fox skin. The heads meet at the back of the neck and the long stole ends in front are trimmed with tails. The muff that accompanies this piece of neckwear is of black fox, trimmed with white and black tails.

Stripes appear as one of the season's fads in furs. These are often produced by arranging the pelts with the light outer edges in alternate stripes with the dark middle line of the pelt. In the case of short-haired furs, such as mink, moleskin and sable, the stripes are arranged by sewing the strips of furs in alternate directions upon the garment. The result is very beautiful and striking in fine furs and striking, without being beautiful in cheaper ones, since the reversing of pelts in cheap furs merely brings out the quality into greater prominence. Moleskin is, perhaps, the prettiest fur treated in this manner, since it is clipped very close and the color is so soft and even. With fur sets it is the custom to wear a bit of the same fur upon the hat, and when the gown is of velvet or broadcloth, to have some of it introduced among the trimmings.

Bowling Party.

An enjoyable event of last night was the small bowling party given by Miss Elizabeth Morgan at the Driving Club, the occasion a compliment to Miss Dorothy Meyers, of New Mexico, who is visiting Miss Caroline Muse.

The prizes were a hat pin and a stick pin, and the game was followed by a dainty supper.

Miss Morgan was becomingly gowned in light green shantung, and her black velvet hat was trimmed with plumes.

LOEB IS BEATEN AFTER LONG FIGHT

Sentence of Recorder Broyles Is Upheld.

Loeb Fought Sentence in Every Georgia Court and Then Appealed to United States Supreme Court---Latter Court Affirms Georgia Sentence.

Washington, January 3.—(Special.) The supreme court today brushed aside with a wave of its hand the case of Samuel Loeb v. Henry Jennings, chief of police of Atlanta, involving the sentence given Loeb in the recorder's court of Atlanta of a fine of $500 and thirty days imprisonment for violation of the liquor laws. This case has been before every court in Georgia, and was finally disposed of by the supreme court today in a decision of four lines. The court said: "Judgment affirmed on the authority of Waters-Pierce Oil Company v. State of Texas, 212 United States. 112; 118; Goodrich v. Feris, 214 United States, 79; Griffith v. Connecticut, 218 United States (not yet reported)."

History of Case.

Loeb was convicted in the recorder's court of a violation of the municipal ordinance prohibiting the unlawful sale of liquor. He applied for a writ of habeas corpus to the judge of the city court of Atlanta, and upon the return of this writ evidence was introduced. The court denied the writ. Loeb was remanded to the custody of Chief Jennings.

Exceptions were filed to this order, returnable to the court of appeals. This court certified certain questions to the supreme court of Georgia. That court rendered an opinion affirming judgment. This decision was also made the decision of the court of appeals. Loeb then applied through his counsel, Thomas B. Felder, for a writ of error, returnable to the supreme court of the United States.

Position Taken by Felder.

Mr. Felder took the position that there was no warrant in law for the imposition by the recorder's court of the sentence inflicted upon Loeb without trial by jury, saying it was cruel and unusual punishment, and a further violation of the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution.

Chief Jennings, through W. A. Wimbish, his counsel, denied that there was any federal questions involved. The chief stated that the question raised had already been adjudicated by the supreme court, which held that the provision in the federal constitution prohibiting excessive and unusual punishment was a restriction upon its own courts, and not upon state and municipal courts.

J. F. VAN RENSSELAER GOES TO THE BEYOND

Prominent Young Railroad Man Dies After an Operation.

The funeral of James Fleming Van Rensselaer, the prominent young railroad man who died yesterday morning at 2:30 o'clock at St. Joseph's infirmary, will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Marietta. The services will be conducted at the home of J. B. Glover, Mrs. Van Rensselaer's father.

A special car will leave the Walton street junction at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in order to provide conveyance for the friends and relatives of the family.

Mr. Van Rensselaer's death closed an illness of several months' duration. Following an attack of pneumonia, an operation was performed about two months ago, but though Mr. Van Rensselaer became better, he did not recover wholly. About three weeks ago another operation was performed. Monday night he became very much worse, death resulting in the early morning.

For eight years Mr. Van Renselaer had been located in Atlanta as general agent of the Southern Pacific railroad, one of the lines controlled by E. H. Harriman, who was Mr. Van Rensselaer's uncle.

Though comparatively young, being at the time of his death only 35 years old, Mr. Van Rensselaer held a high position in the railroad world. He began his railroad career when only 21, steadily advancing with each succeeding year, and before coming to Atlanta had been stationed in Chicago and Denver as general agent of the Harriman road.

In the first year of his stay in Atlanta, Mr. Van Rensselaer was married to Miss Jennie Glover, of Marietta, and his wife and a little 5-year-old girl named Katrina survive him.

Katrina is the wingsome little lady to whom E. H. Harriman was so devoted, and who received the famous railroad man in state at the time of his hurried visit to Atlanta a few years ago.

Mr. Van Rensselaer is also survived by his mother, Mrs. A. I. Van Rensselaer, of Dallas, Texas; four sisters, Miss Nina Van Rensselaer, Dallas, Texas; Mrs. Morris Ginn, of Redlands, Cal.; Mrs. Louise Maston, of California, and Mrs. Rufus Briscoe, of Riverside, Cal. He is also survived by two brothers, Gerald, of Omaha, and Harry, of Los Angeles.

Mr. Van Rensselaer's only living uncle is Orlando Harriman, of New York, brother of E. H. Harriman.

Robert at Work on Fair.

Macon, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Secretary and General Manager Harry Robert, of the Georgia State fair, has opened permanent office in the rooms of the Macon Chamber of Commerce, and is now busy with the details of business for another great fair next fall. He has nothing in hand now but to make the coming fair as good as the splendid fair of last fall and he has already promised even better results.

Realty Sales at Macon.

Macon, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Ben Willingham bought the residence belonging to the estate of the late Mrs. William Henry Ross on Washington avenue at public outcry today for the sum of $7,500. Guthman purchased the vacant lot of the estate of the late Mrs. Mary Canning, of Mulberry street, for $7,100. Both purchases indicate a strong faith in real estate values in Macon.

STORIES OF FARMING EXPLOITS FROM ALL PARTS OF GEORGIA

A Real Money Crop.

Fort Gaines, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Farmers of this county are making strides to overcome the result of a bad cotton year. The latest is Will Shaw, who lives about six miles north of town. He has gathered off one pecan tree 402 pounds of pecans. At wholesale prices the crop of this tree will equal in value one bale of cotton, and it took no cultivation to produce it. That is a money crop with a vengeance.

Fifty-two Joints on One Stalk.

Blackshear, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—George W. Lyons brought a stalk of sugar cane, the red variety, to Blackshear last Saturday that was a freak and had 52 joints. From the old stalk several shoots had put out and were fully matured.

Oranges in Georgia.

Blackshear, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Randal Davis left an orange, nearly ripe, at a local office one day last week which he raised on his farm only a few miles from Blackshear. Mr. Davis has one tree which has two or three hundred oranges on it. He believes that with a little care the growing of oranges in Pierce or any other south Georgia county could be made a success. The oranges on this tree are as finely flavored as any Florida orange.

More European Gold.

Millwood, Ga., January 3.—(Special.) The biggest crop ever produced was harvested this year. That means a bigger shipload of gold from Europe than ever, for America feeds those people to the extent of one billion worth of foodstuffs per year.

A Five-Pound Turnip.

Rochelle, Ga., January 3.—(Special.) Oscar Banks, of this place, returned recently from a visit to W. M. Martin, at Norman Park, Ga. He brought with him a turnip which weighed 4¾ pounds and measured 18 inches in circumference. Mr. Martin is an old Wilcox county farmer, who moved to Norman Park about a year ago, and if the balance of his crop is on an average with his turnips, he is doing well.

Some Farming Records.

Augusta, Ga., January 3.—(Special.) Just for plain every-day farming on no extra fertile land H. L. Murphey, of Hephzibah, has been breaking the record. Mr. Murphey, without putting forth any extra efforts, raised last year on 10 acre sof ordinary ground 400 bushels of corn or 48 bushels to the acre, which is nearly three times the average Georgia yield. This was not done in any club or contest, but simply a successful planting, cultivating and fertilizing. It is by far the best corn raised around Hephzibah this year.

A neighbor friend of Mr. Murphey, who is also a farmer, said the other day that his average crop of corn was about 10 bushels to the acre, and he says that the average farmer's crop is about that. Farmers in this section of the state raise varied amounts on their farms to the acre, but they consider themselves doing well if they get 15 or 20 bushels per acre.

Champion Hog Raiser.

Dublin, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—W. G. Towns is probably the champion hog raiser of this county. Mr. Towns runs only one plow, but he has raised this year twenty-six head of hogs. He has already killed eleven. The largest weighed 337 pounds and the smallest 108 pounds. The large hog was 18 months and 8 days old. It weighed a half-pound for each day of its age.

Another Big Porker.

Lafayette, Ga., January 3.—(Special.) Perhaps the largest porker killed the past week in this vicinity, if not in the county for its age, belongs to J. H. Funderburk. It was 9 months and 15 days old, and weighed 328 pounds pressed.

A Big Corn Shucking.

Lawrenceville, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—W. A. Cooper, of Grayson, gave the biggest corn shucking Tuesday ever held in Bay Creek district. Thirty-seven hands shucked out 450 bushels of corn and stowed it away in the barn. Mr. Cooper recently killed two hogs 15 months old weighing 453 pounds each. They were some porkers.

Cotton Brings $100 a Bale.

Macon, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Heard Brothers sold two bales of cotton Saturday that brought over $200. The cotton was raised by G. B. Moore, a Bibb county farmer, and the bales weighed 700 to 722 pounds. They sold at 14⅛ cents a pound, and brought $200.86.

A 510-Pound Porker.

Statesboro, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—H. T. Jones, who owns and operates one of the finest farms in Bulloch county, has been slaying some fine pork at his farm out on Route No. 5. He has killed forty in all, the heaviest of which tipped the scales yesterday at 510 pounds after it was dressed. Mr. Jones states that his son made the following on one and a quarter acres in Sea Island cotton: He has sold one bale already, bringing $162, and now has 380 pounds in the seed; add this and the price of the cotton seed, and it will run considerably over $200 net yield off of one and a quarter acres of land.

Stenographer Ill; Court Stops.

Macon, Ga., January 3.—(Special.)—Stenographer Emmett Barnes was ill and unable to attend the session of the city court this morning and on account of failure to secure the services of a competent person, Judge Hodges was forced to defer work today. The work of the new year will be taken up early in this court.

IT WAS ELYEA'S SUGGESTION THAT CAUSED PRESENTATION

While citizens of Atlanta generally gladly joined in the subscription with which was purchased the handsome testimonial to former Mayor Robert F. Maddox on his retirement from office, the source of the interesting suggestion which led to it should not be forgotten.

The proposal to make such a presentation to Mayor Maddox came from Charles L. Elyea, of the Elyea-Austell Company, who took it up with a number of friends, prominent Atlanta citizens, and they immediately seized upon it as a most appropriate thing to do.

Accordingly, a committee was organized with Mr. Elyea as chairman, the work was begun on short notice, and the success met with has already been publicly announced.

From the beginning, Mr. Elyea took active charge of the work and gave to it not only his own time, but that of his entire office force, and at the meeting in Taft hall Monday night, when the handsome silver service and punch bowl were presented to the retiring mayor, there was no man who looked more proudly, and justly so, upon the culmination of this interesting event than he.

CHARLES L. ELYEA,
From whom came the proposal to present a testimonial to retiring Mayor Maddox, a project that was so successfully carried out.

Cheap Rate Given.

Montgomery, Ala., January 3.—(Special.)—A flat rate of 1 cent per mile plus 25 cents when the ticket is purchased has been authorized by the Louisville and Nashville railroad for the transportation of soldiers to this city on the occasion of the inauguration of Governor-elect Emmet O'Neal as chief executive of this commonwealth. It is expected that in the neighborhood of 2,200 members of the Alabama national guard will be on hand to participate in the celebration.

GIRARDEAU MADE NO CHARGE FOR SERVICE

Acted as Agent for the City in Securing School Property.

In a report of the proceedings of council it was made to appear that C. H. Girardeau, of the firm of Faver & Girardeau, had charged the city a commission on the purchase of a school lot, whereas he rendered the service without charge. Mr. Girardeau states his position in the following card:

Editor Constitution: In an article in this morning's paper, you unintentionally, of course, misstate my position with reference to a commission paid to Foster & Robson for the purchase of a school lot from J. H. Moore. I have no claim against the city for a commission.

I was appointed by council to act without compensation for my services. I accomplished this work freely and graciously, without reward or the expectation of reward, and made my report to council. Later, I happened to be attending a session of council when, to my surprise, a resolution from the school committee was presented asking that Foster & Robson be paid a commission for the work that I had performed. The resolution from the school committee stated that when the agreement between J. H. Moore and myself was reached, it was understood that the city was to pay a commission to Foster & Robson. This being untrue, I sought to defeat before council this claim.

C. H. GIRARDEAU.

OWENS NOT A SUICIDE; WAS KILLED BY NEGRO

In Mentally Deranged Condition He Tried to Force Entrance to Negro's Cabin.

Americus, Ga., January 3.—(Special.) John Owens, the young white man whose body was found last night in the woods near Americus, did not die of exposure, as first supposed, but was killed by a negro, John Givens, into whose home, it is charged, Owens attempted to force entrance at midnight.

Givens was arrested this morning and confessed the homicide. He stated that Owens attempted to break into his home, when he hot him dead and afterwards, through fear, dragged the body into the woods, where it was discovered three days thereafter. Givens' wife confirms his statement.

Owens wandered away from Americus Friday night in partially mental derangement. The negro's statement is generally credited.

Stomach Sufferers Squander Millions

In Search of Relief.

Trial Package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Free.

The world is full of disordered stomachs and 90 per cent of the money spent upon physicians and drugs goes in an attempt to cure the stomach.

People are made to believe that in order to gain health they must doctor their stomachs and use cathartics. So the doctor gets his fee for the stomach treatment and the druggist for the physic, until the savings of a lifetime are exhausted and yet no cure.

Let's be reasonable.

The sick stomach is in every case the result of over-eating, hurried mastication and improper choice of foods. The mucous lining all the way down the food tract loses its sensitiveness, and when food is forced down the muscles fail to respond. They do not churn the food as they should. The glands no longer give out gastric juice to dissolve the food and render it capable of assimilation. The man has become a dyspeptic.

There is one sure way and only one to bring positive relief. Put into that stomach of yours the very elements that it lacks to get that food into liquid form. It takes pepsin, diastase, golden seal and other ferments to accomplish this. The healthy stomach contains these elements. The dyspeptic stomach lacks part or all of them. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are made of just what the dyspeptic stomach lacks—nature's digestive's.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a medicine, not a drug, not a cathartic. They do not cure anybody of anything but Dyspepsia and indigestion and such ailments as arise from poorly digested food.

While they digest the food the stomach recuperates. The mucous membrane is coming out of its stupor, the gastric juice is coming to the surface, the muscles are regaining their power. Every organ of the body takes on new life, the skin gains color, and the eyes are no longer tinged with yellow. You live.

Why doctor and why drug yourself? Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will take care of your food while nature cures you.

Try a box at your druggists, 50 cents. Or, if you prefer a free trial package before buying, send your name and address today. F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

TWO FAVORITES HOME IN FRONT

Outsiders Won Majority of Moncrief Events.

The Going Was Heavy and Web-Footed Horses Had the Best of It---County Tax Defeated Althorpe, the Favorite, in Fourth Event.

Jacksonville, Fla., January 3.—Web-footed horses were required to negotiate the going at Moncrief this afternoon, which was fetlock deep in sloppy mud and the thoroughbreds which seemed to be endowed with those duck-like extremities won their races by comfortable margins.

There was one exception, however, when the fourth race, the best event of an ordinary card, developed a stirring finish between County Tax and Patrick S., who finished necks apart in the order named. Althorpe, the favorite, could do no better than third.

The attendance was good, considering the rainy, disagreeable weather.

George Hackenschmidt, known the world over as the "Russian Lion," will give an exhibition bout at the Atlanta Athletic club on January 10.

H. M. Burns, an Atlanta man, a personal friend of Jack Curley, Hackenschmidt's manager, has arranged for the bout, and will bring some good wrestler from the east to meet him.

This match is not to be regarded as one for a title or anything like that. Both men will try their best to win, but it will be an exhibition affair purely and simply. There is only one man in the world today that can make it interesting for Hackenschmidt, and that is Frank Gotch, the champion, so it can be seen that the match will have to be an exhibition.

In addition to the wrestling bout, there will be a ten-round boxing bout between two mighty good men, whose names will be announced later.

The only inducement under which Hackenschmidt would come to Atlanta was that he get several other bouts in this section, and dates have been arranged in Birmingham, Chattanooga, Montgomery, Knoxville and other cities.

AT TAMPA.

Tampa, Fla., January 3.—Outsiders captured a majority of the events here today before another large crowd. Unusually warm weather again made racing conditions ideal, but the delay in the arrival of the steamer Morgan from Pensacola, with 200 horses, about left several bad holes in the card. DRAFTING ABUSES WILL BE CHECKED

New Rule by National Commission—Herrmann Again Chairman.

Cincinnati, Ohio, January 3.—For the eighth successive time August Herrmann, of this city, was selected chairman of the National Baseball Commission at its annual session at the Laughrey Club this afternoon. John E. Bruce, one of the principal owners of the St. Louis American League club, was likewise re-elected as secretary of the commission. It was stated that while the schedules for the two leagues had been practically completed, yet nothing would be announced regarding the dates at this time. It was stated unofficially, however, that the two seasons would open on the same day, and that this day would probably be April 12. It was also stated that the two schedules as drawn up were for a series of 154 games.

The chairman's annual report recommended that a rule be adopted to prevent drafting abuses, and directly following the reading of the report the following rule was adopted:

"Rule 53. Any major league club desiring to draft a player, shall in addition to complying with the requirements of section 7, article 4, of the national agreement and the rules of the national commission, file with the secretary of the committee a statement signed by its president, signifying that such selection is made for the sole purpose of securing such player's service for its own team and not under an agreement or arrangement for his transfer to another major league team or to a minor league club of higher classification than that from which he was drafted or for his return to the club from which he was obtained by draft.

"If on investigation the commission finds that such certified statement was false and that the system of selection was perverted from its true purpose in furtherance of a conspiracy, a fine equal to the drafting price of the league from which the player was drafted shall be imposed on each offending club."

CHANGE IN DATES IN CLUB SCHEDULE

Birmingham Y. M. C. A. Will Probably Play Here Soon.

There will be a probable change in the personnel of the schedule of the Atlanta Athletic Club basketball team.

Some time ago it was announced that the club would play either Central of Kentucky, in Atlanta, or the University of Georgia, in Athens, on January 14.

Monday night Manager Hudson received a night lettergram from the Birmingham Young Men's Christian Association asking to play on that date.

Manager Hudson accepted the challenge, and all that remains to cinch the game is the acceptance of the guarantee offered by the local club. A letter is expected in a few days doing this.

The Birmingham Young Men's Christian Association team recently defeated the University of Georgia by the score of 44 to 15. So, judging from that score, they must have a very good team. At least, they have a team that will make the local club hurry to win.

Two years ago, the score in Atlanta resulted 44 to 17 in favor of the locals, and in Birmingham 54 to 35 in favor of Birmingham. Last year, it resulted here in a score of 30 to 25 in favor of the locals and 54 to 9 in favor of Birmingham in Birmingham.

STONE MOUNTAIN PLAYS A. A. C. FIVE

Prep Basketballers Tackle Local Team Thursday Night.

Tomorrow night at the Athletic Club's gymnasium on Auburn avenue, the club's basketball five will tackle the team representing the University School for Boys at Stone Mountain, at what promises to be a mighty fast game.

The Stone Mountain lads must not be underestimated just because they are prep school boys, for they know the game thoroughly, are active, in splendid condition and have a bright star for their leader.

Tippo Peddy, the star forward of last year's Columbus team, is the leader of the Stone Mountain bunch, and what this youngster does not know about basketball has never been written or played. In fact, he is one of the few natural basketball players in the game today. There never was a guard that could keep the little fellow from scoring. He is like a blue streak, and his accuracy in throwing goals is uncanny at times.

The regular prices of admission will prevail. Fifty cents for members, 75 cents for non-members and 25 cents for ladies. Dick Jemison will probably referee. The usual dancing features after the game.

Suits at your price today at Carroll's, 172 Peachtree.

FIGHTING TO SAVE NAVAL STORES MEN

Effort Made to Have Record Reviewed by the Supreme Court.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, January 3.—(Special.) A petition for a writ of certiorari by the supreme court to review the record in the case of Edmund S. Nash, Spencer P. Shotter and other officers of the American Naval Stores Company and National Transportation and Terminal Company, with offices at Savannah, was filed tody by Judge Samuel B. Adams and John C. Spooner.

The above petitioners, together with J. F. Cooper Myers, George Meade Boardman and Carl Moller, were indicted on April 11, 1908, in the United States circuit court for the southern district of Georgia, and eastern division, for a violation of the Sherman anti-trust act. On April 12, 1909, the case was heard and demurrers were filed by these above and C. J. DeLoach. Judge William B. Sheppard sustained the demurrer as to one count of the indictment and dismissed it as to the other two.

Agents and employees of the corporation were charged with swindling and cheating customers in another state, falsely labeling and falsely measuring goods. On May 10 the jury found all the defendants guilty except DeLoach, who was dismissed. Appeal was taken to the United States circuit court, and the judgment of the lower court affirmed.

There is no means of telling when the application for certiorari will be reached by the supreme court.

Automobile Tire Prices Reduced.

Akron, Ohio, January 3.—(Special.) The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company announce a reduction of 10 per cent in price of casings and 15 per cent in price of tubes, made possible by decline in cost of pure para rubber gum and unequaled manufacturing facilities. The probabilities are that some other makers in the same line will follow the lead of this company in the near future.

TURN VEREIN CLUB HAS ANNUAL DANCE

Georgeously Decorated Christmas Tree Was Pretty Feature of the Event.

The annual dance and Christmas celebration of the Atlanta Turn Verein Club was held in the club rooms on Pryor street Monday night.

The feature of the entertainment, at least in so far as the little folk were concerned, was a Christmas tree gorgeously decorated with glittering lights and loaded down with innumerable presents for the children of the members.

William Wolpert, in the guise of Santa Claus, created much merriment and at the same time dispensed much cheer because he had one or more presents for everyone there. Instead of the reindeer and sleigh which Santa Claus uses, according to report, Mr. Wolpert used two Shetland ponies and a buggy secured from Charlie Vittur, and when he came driving in with his traps appropriately decorated there was a loud burst of applause.

The dance followed the Christmas tree exercises and for many hours the guests "tripped the light fantastic" to the strains from Wurms' orchestra.

The committee which arranged the entertainment was composed of the following: Newman Lasser, Frank Wheat and George Hertlein. They were ably assisted by Hermann Steinichen, chairman of the house committee.

FOR FALLING INTO OLD WELL SHE WANTS $3,000 DAMAGES

After having fallen into an old well, which she describes as totally dark and half-filled with cold, slimy water, after a slow and difficult rescue by her husband, who, she says, had to go down into the well and carry her out in his arms, Mrs. Bessie Brisendine has filed suit for $3,000 damages against Police Commissioner George Johnson, the owner of the property at 323 Luckie street, where Mrs. Brisendine and her husband lived. The suit was filed through Attorneys Moore & Branch.

Mrs. Brisendine says that she went out into the back yard one morning to sweep the yard, and that, while doing so, the earth suddenly gave way beneath her feet, precipitating her 30 feet into an old well, partially filled with water. She says that the well hole had been covered with planking, which, in turn, had been covered over with dirt, the aperture being completely hidden.

The planking even was not to be seen, she said, as it lay 3 or 4 inches below the surface; and as it had become decayed and rotten it gave way beneath her. She charges that the defendant knew of the presence of the well and how it was covered, and alleges negligence on his part in not eliminating the danger.

She remained in the well 30 minutes, she says, before her husband could get her out, and her sensations were horrible. Added to the unpleasantness of the fall into a 30-foot hole, totally dark, filled with cold, slimy water, was the fear that nobody could hear her screams, and that she would be compelled to remain there.

Finally, when her husband came down to get her, and was carrying her out in his arms, she says the sides of the well caved in and the dirt and bricks bruised and hurt her head and face.

By reason of her experience she claims that her health is permanently injured.

"I commend the report of the superintendent to your favorable consideration."

BEGS JUDGE FOR TERM IN JAIL TO GET CURED OF DRUG HABIT

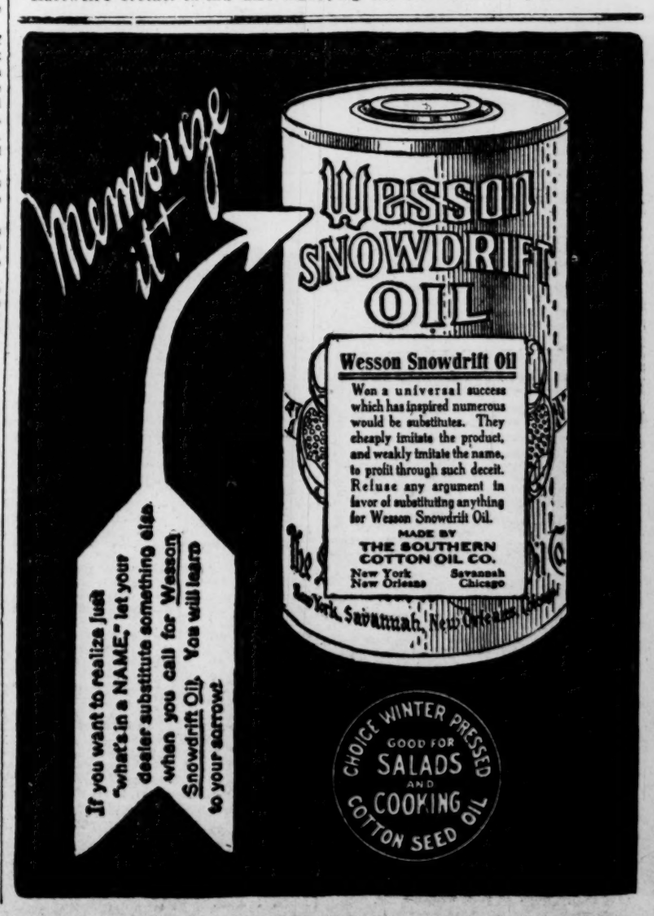

It seldom happens that a prisoner pleads with a judge to be given a jail sentence, but yesterday S. R. Hartwell, a young boy about 21 years old, earnestly begged the judge to imprison him in order that he might be helped to get a grip upon himself.

Hartwell was arraigned in the city criminal court on the charge of having stolen three billiard balls. When his case was called Lowry Arnold, solicitor of the court, stated that the boy had become the victim of the dope habit, and that he was not really guilty of any moral turpitude. He asked the judge to give a jail sentence.

Hartwell's brother-in-law also made the same plea; and then the boy himself very earnestly begged the judge to give him the jail sentence. "I want to break myself of the habit," he told the judge, "and I can almost promise you not to get into trouble again."

The boy has been before the court at other times, and was formerly given a jail sentence. He came out improved, but not cured of the habit; and when arraigned Tuesday his nervous, pallid face and dark-rimmed eyes gave every indication of a constant use of some drug.

Judge Calhoun imposed a sentence of six months in jail and twelve months on the public works, telling the boy that the latter would be suspended if he got himself in hand during the six months in jail.

NEAR POSITIONS FIRM IN THE COTTON MARKET

Opened Steady, Then Came Reaction---Closed Steady at Slight Advance.

New York, January 3.—The talk of competition for the New York stock of cotton, based upon the reception of January notices last Friday, appeared the dominating factor in the local cotton market today and imparted a relatively firm tone to the near positions. There was, however, no revival of general speculative demand, and the market was barely maintained during the afternoon when rumors were circulating that early reports to the National Ginners' Association indicated 11,100,000 bales ginned to January 1. The close was steady at a net advance of 2@6 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 5 to 8 points, which was in line with the steady Liverpool cables. There seemed to be nothing fresh in over-holiday developments to create new sentiment, but annual reviews of the dry goods trade made pessimistic reading, and following the call there was a slight reaction, under local selling based on the unfavorable mill situation. Leading spot interests, however, seemed to be in the market for January and March contracts, which, in connection with the fact that over 100,000 bales of cotton changed hands as a result of January notices late last week, tended to color the rumors of competition for the local stock and the incidental control of the market. At any rate, prices rallied during the middle of the morning, and at one time showed a net gain of about 7@9 points, with January and March leading the advance. Later the reports of heavy ginning reports, while lacking confirmation, inspired some scattering liquidation, and, with local offerings a little heavier, prices sold off to about Friday's finals. The close was 2 to 3 points up from the lowest, however, on renewed covering and continued buying of the near positions.

Southern spot markets, officially reported early, were unchanged to 1-16c higher, and private wires received here claimed a good demand from the interior at practically the best prices of the season.

Exports continued, however, being considerable at the expense of port stock and the semi-weekly interior figures also suggested a loss in the stocks at the counter interior towns.

The census report on ginning to January 1 will be issued next Tuesday morning.

Receipts at the ports today 33,351 bales, against 41,039 last week, and 39,892 last year. For the week 275,000 bales, against 302,410 last week and 165,696 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 1,274 boles, against 11,413 last year, and at Houston 15,896 bales, against 10,522 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet; middling uplands 15; middling gulf 15.25; sales 103,400 bales (all delivered on contract).

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, January 3.—Spot cotton very steady, unchanged; sales on the spot 1,050 bales; to arrive 2,000; low ordinary 11¾, nominal; ordinary, 12 5-16, nominal; good ordinary, 13⅜; strict good ordinary, 18⅛; low middling, 14 7-16; strict low middling, 14 11-16; middling, 14 15-16; strict middling, 15 1-16; good middling, 15¼; strict good middling, 15 7-16; strict good fair, 15 11-16; middling fair, 15 11-16; middling fair to fair, 16 1-16; fair, 16 7-16, nominal; receipts, 1,274; stock, 253,789.

Cotton futures opened barely steady at an advance of 3 to 5 points on good cables. After the call, the more active months were a few points up on moderate buying from commission houses, but sentiment among professional traders was against the market, and selling increased. Bearish aggressiveness was based on expectations of continued liquidation from the long side and a large movement. Private cable messages from Liverpool were more bullish than otherwise, but no attention was paid to them. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were unchanged to 2 points up compared with last week's close.

Around the middle of the morning the market again showed a tendency to advance, but was checked by the rumor that the National Ginners' Association would come out with a report of 425,000 bales ginned during the period just ended. This rumored report compares with 289,000 bales ginned during the same period last year, and confirms bearish views. Selling was stimulated by the figures, although there was nothing official about them.

At noon the trading months were at the level of last week's close.

In the afternoon session the market was dull. Trading was featureless.

At 2 o'clock prices were unchanged to 1 point down compared with Friday's close. The market closed weak.

Dry Goods.

New Yoork, January 3.—The naming of a new price of 8¼c on a new construction of Lonsdale sheetings was the feature of the day in cotton goods. Business opened quiet with prices generally firm.

Rice.

New Orleans, January 3.—The rice market was steady today and transactions were light. Low grade rough Honduras recorded a rise of 25c a barrel; otherwise quotations were unchanged. Receipts: Rough 8,655; clean 2,590; millers 5,722. Sales: Rough, 927 Honduras at $2.25@2.27; 1,125 Japan at $2.06@2.07½. Clean, 2,893 Honduras at 1 11-16@4½; 781 Japan at 2.11-16@2.13-16. Quotations: Rough Honduras steady at $2@3.20; Japan steady at $2@3.05; clean Honduras steady at 3@4⅛; Japan steady at 2½@3¼.

STOCK SPECIALTIES SHOWED SOME STRENGTH

Professionals Did Most of the Trading---Gains Were Due to Covering.

New York, January 3.—Apart from its sustained strength, the first session of the new year on the stock exchange differed in no important particular from the closing days of last year. Trading was again professional and limited, more than usual, to the speculative favorites. Substantial gains were quite general, but the advance wa slargely due to covering of short commitments. Buying of the Harriman issues, Reading and St. Paul was attributed to the so-called insiders, while the further advance in Consolidated Gas and the strength of certain other specialties probably had their origin in pool manipulation, and Pennsylvania, Norfolk, Reading and Western were unaffected by their poor November earnings, and Lackawanna, which also reported adverse returns for that month, was not even quoted.

Call money opened at 6 per cent, and, according to report, Standard Oil brokers loaned large sums at that figure, but the rate soon fell a fraction from the top until foreign exchange was slightly strong and likelihood of gold imports is now more remote. Local banks received large sums of currency from western and southwestern correspondents ,and the week-end ought to find this center once more strong in cash.

American securities were reactionary in London, where the market for foreign bonds was slightly weak, the result in part of rumors dealing with the health of the emperor of Austria. Private discounts were lower in London and opinion there inclined toward a reduction of bank rate later in the week. Of the $3,000,000 South African gold received in London, the banks of England and Germany took $1,500,000, the balance going to Amsterdam. The heavy year's end drain from the Imperial Bank of Germany was shown in that institution's weekly statement, which reported a cash loss of $27,000,000, reduced gold holdings $18,000,000, and an increase in loans and discounts of $137,000,000. Paris advices suggest the thought that French bankers and investors are likely to participate prominently in the coming New York city bond issue, which is still in process of negotiation. Wall street evinced little interest in latest developments at Washington.

Tomorrow will witness the beginning of reargument in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco cases and resumption of freight rate hearings as scheduled for next week.

Copuer exports for December were highly in excess of these for the same month of 1909, and the visible supply of the metal abfoad shows a decrease, but copper shares were inclined to heaviness on the continental exchanges.

The bond market was firm on diminished dealings. Total sales, par value, $3,191,000. United States government bonds unchanged on call.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, January 3.—With the new year the advances from Great Britain were favorable to a further advance, the Liverpool market closing steady at within a few points of the highest of the season. On this improvement there has been a slow selling movement, apparently coming from many who had waited for a reaction from the dullness of last week to liquidate. A dull tone pervaded the trading after the first hour, with the trade waiting for new features. Rumors were current that the forthcoming ginners' report would be about 11,100,000 bales. In the last hour the market rallied on purchases made by a broker usually buying for the larger operators.

Liverpool should be 2 points lower in the morning.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

BLIZZARD WEATHER PUT WHEAT PRICES UP

Fear of Damage to the Winter Wheat Belt Crop Caused Advance.

Chicago, January 3.—Unprotected fields and severe weather southwest caused a stiff advance today in the price of wheat. The rise was aided by diminishing receipts, especially in the northwest, and by higher markets in Europe. Latest sales showed a net gain of 1⅞@1¾ to 1¾. In corn, the finish was ¼ to ⅝@¾ up, oats ¼ to ¼@⅜, and hog products 2½ off to 12½ advance.

Wheat shorts covered freely and the larger local bulls, with an increasing number of followers, bought until the extreme top figures of the day were reached. Then the leaders began selling and there was a slight recession, but the close was strong within a shade of the highest point. No buying outside of strictly professional speculative circles, however, appeared to be based on feared crop damage. Indeed, the southwestern markets failed to follow Chicago fully, and northwestern centers were relatively higher than here. World shipments proved far less than expected, Russian exports falling off 3,000,000 bushels. Anot er powerful influence was a big decrease ni the European visible supply, better milling demand, both northwest and southwest, helped. May ranged from 97⅝ to 98¾ and closed 1¾ net higher at 98⅝@98¾.

Lighter loadings in the country, the result of arctic temperature, gave corn a strong start. There was also generous buying on the part of the wheat longs. Quite a backset occurred, though, in consequence of cables telling of rain in the Argentine. May fluctuated between 48¾ and 49¾, closing steady ⅛@⅝ up, at 49. Cash corn was firm. No. 2 yellow finished at 46¼@46½.

Oats failed to correspond in activity with wheat and corn, but displayed sympathy through a moderate gain in price. Shipping call was poor. May varied from 34⅛ to 34⅜@34½, and in the end was ¼ net higher at 34¾.

A leading Milwaukee packer sold provisions on a large scale, and cut down a sharp advance, due to a jump in the hog market. When trading ceased, pork was left with 7½ to 12½ gain, lard down 2½ cents, and ribs at 2½ loss to a rise of 2½@5c.

$800 and $900 Each.

WE HAVE just opened a new subdivision of 40 perfectly level, shaded lots in West End, within two blocks of two car lines. Tile sidewalks, curbing, water and gas. The lots all around these have been selling, and are now selling, from $1,000 to $1,200 each. The price on these lots is entirely too cheap for the location and the kind of property that this is. To show you these means a sale on from one to one-half dozen lots in this subdivision. You only have to pay $200 on each lot, balance one and two years. Make your first payment of $200 on each lot, and can sell at a handsome profit before your next note, dated from date, comes due. Let us show you, and we can substantiate our argument.

PRAYER DAY PLANNED TO FORERUN REVIVAL

Baptists Plan to Arouse Spirit of Religion in Atlanta.

As a forerunner to a great revival in Atlanta, for which all the ministers are planning and praying, the Baptists of the city will hold a day of prayer Monday. The prayers will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning at the First Baptist church and will continue throughout an evening service, which will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The one idea in all the prayers will be the revival of the real religious spirit in Atlanta. At the evening service Dr. Cohen, a well-known divine of New York, will deliver the sermon.

The Baptists' day of prayer precedes a general movement which is being planned by the Evangelical Ministers' Association, and in which the association hopes to interest everybody without "distinction of class, or color, or denomination."

FIRES ON OFFICERS AND MAKES ESCAPE

Dublin, Ga., January 3.—Assistant Chief of Police V. Chavous was shot through the lower part of the stomach yesterday afternoon by a negro, Anthony Perry, who Chavous was attempting to arrest. Perry had shot a negro woman a few hours previous to this shooting, and, with another officer, Veal, Chavous located Perry near the junction of the Waycross and Tennille on the outskirts of Dublin.

The train from Eastman was standing on a side track waiting for the Hawkinsville train, when Perry, accompanied by another negro, was seen by the officers. Mr. Chavous called to him to stop and as he was advancing toward the negro he was fired on by Perry with a Winchester rifle.

The negro continued shooting at the officers until the train crew opened fire. Blood stains were found on the track where the negroes were standing, but they escaped.

BOOST THEIR CITY AS LOGICAL POINT

New Orleans Delegation Goes to Capital.

Advance Guard of Small Army of "Boosters" From Crescent City Pass Through Atlanta. Say Exposition Must Go to New Orleans.

A dozen or more of Louisiana's most prominent citizens, the advance guard of a small army which is soon to storm the national capital in an effort to have congress choose New Orleans for holding the Panama exposition in 1915, passed through Atlanta yesterday en route for Washington city.

They will be followed by another small party today, while on Saturday the "Logical Point Special," a special train carrying 150 more Louisianians, will leave the Crescent City, going to join forces in Washington with those who have gone before.

Congress votes upon the matter of where the 1915 exposition is to be held on January 20, and men from not only Louisiana, but every southern state as well as from many other sections of the country are flocking to the national capital to use their influence in having congress settle upon the burg that nestles at the mouth of the "Father of Waters."

Already the Louisiana delegation has opened headquarters at the New Abbott hotel in Washington, and here they will keep open house until the fight has been won or lost.

Chances Are Good.

Members of the party who passed through the city Tuesday believe that the chances are all in favor of New Orleans being chosen over San Francisco, the only other city making an effort to land the big show. The question is to be acted upon by the committee on industrial arts and expositions within a week, and the entire Louisiana delegation will go before this committee. Later the rules committee will take up the matter, and it is stated that it will be made special order of business for the house on January 20.

So far as the recommendation of the committee on industrial arts and expositions is concerned, the Louisiana gentlemen feel certain that this report will favor their city. The committee has been polled, it is said, and has been found to strongly favor New Orleans, while W. A. Rodenbury, of East St. Louis, the chairman of the committee, is one of the Crescent City's most ardent supporters.

Among the notables of the party which will reach Washington today are Mayor Martin Behrman, of New Orleans; Perl Wight, republican national committeeman from Louisiana; E. B. Charighead, president of the Louisiana State university; W. A. (Farmer) Scott, of New York; Congressmen Dupree and A. P. Pujo, Senator J. F. Connell, W. P. Ball, Frank Sullivan, L. Quintero, E. A. Paul and P. Crabetes. The party is headed by T. P. Thompson, with whom the Panama canal idea originated.

Frisco Acted Unfairly.

Among a number of the members of the delegation the idea prevails that San Francisco has not acted fairly in the contest which has been on between the two cities for some time. Delegations from the California town have unjustly criticised New Orleans on a number of occasions, it is said, while an effort has been made on their part to inject politics into the struggle. In this, however, they have failed, it is said, since many republicans heartily indorse New Orleans, while a number of western democrats are just as strongly partisan to San Francisco.

It is believed by those best informed, however, that New Orleans has much the better of the fight so far. The east, south, middle west and Mississippi valley are strong for the Louisiana town, it is said, while San Francisco has only the extreme western portion of the country in her favor.

FROSTY RECEPTION FOR STORE BUILDER

Citizens of Copenhill Object to Store Being Built in Midst.

The Copenhill citizens, particularly those living near the corner of Highland and Cleburne avenues, held a called meeting last night at the home of Julius M. Skinner, for the purpose of hearing the report of a committee delegated to see M. P. Roan, owner of the southeast corner of Highland and Cleburne avenues, where he is preparing to build a store. The committee was appointed to see Mr. Roan and protest against the building of the store, as it is the sentiment of the entire neighborhood to keep such buildings out.

The committee, of which J. M. Skinner was chairman, reported that they had seen Mr. Roan, and that he had stated that the store would be built unless the property, for which, he stated, he had paid $2,500 ten days ago, was purchased from him by the protesting citizens. When asked the price of the lot he offered to sell it for $3,500.

The citizens present at the meeting considered the report and decided that the price asked was exorbitant, but decided to call another meeting soon to discuss the best method to prevent the building of the store. It is said that a property-owner, neighboring on the corner in question, who is reported to have bought his home a few weeks ago from the then owner of the store lot, under the verbal agreement that no store would be built upon the site in question, will take the case into litigation.

PETITIONS PILED HIGH FOR TEACHERS' SALARIES

Great pile of petitions signed by thousands of Atlantans urging council to increase the salaries of the city's public school teachers.

A mammoth pile of petitions, containing over 300 rolls, and more than 50,000 names, is the result of the appeal which has been made to the city council for an increase in the pay of teachers.

Never before in the history of Atlanta has such a huge petition gone forth from a people to the public servants.

So huge was this mass of petitions it had to be carried to the city hall from the auditorium on a dray. After the bundles had been delivered Tuesday morning to the comptroller's office they were piled up in a corner of a room and photographed by The Constitution. The pile as shown in the picture is four feet high.

In this large mass of manuscript are enrolled men and women of Atlanta, from every walk of life, and these petitions are voiceless, but powerful, pleas for better wages for the hardest worked and least paid employees of the city.

The mass of petitions was presented to the new council at Taft hall Monday night by Councilman Steve R. Johnston, who is an ex-officio member of the board of education. Persistently and stubbornly has Councilman Johnston made the fight for better pay for teachers and he has been backed up by the educational board. A short while ago petitions were circulated throughout the city addressed to the city council and asking for an increase in the teachers' salaries. These petitions were signed in homes, offices, stores, factories, workshops, and, in fact, wherever there was a man or woman who believed that the teachers were underpaid.

The result is the mammoth pile of petitions which The Constitution pictures for the benefit of those who wish to know how the appeal for the teachers has so far been answered.

The finance committee of council must consider the petitions and the mass of documents with the thousands of signatures which will lie before them, mute but powerful pleaders for the teachers' cause.

"SHE FOUGHT ME LIKE A DEMON," KIDWELL DECLARES IN SUIT

Charging that his wife, "during one of her fits of temper and rage, kicked over the stove and came very near burning down the house," R. H. Kidwell yesterday filed suit for divorce against Hattie I. Kidwell.

He says, in addition, that she "fought him like a demon," and that one of her "peculiar forms of administering cruel treatment was that of scratching—that in the midst of her fits of temper and madness, besides striking and beating him, she would scratch him in the face." Also, he charges, she would tear up his clothes and break up his eyeglasses.

The culminating abuse, cited in the petition, was that she "was at all times insisting that he should leave the house; that she needed his room, and could rent the space he occupied to much better advantage than having him around," and he says that when he would go home to spend the night he would find the door locked, and no amount of knocking or "alarms" would get answer, whereupon he would have to go somewhere else to spend the night.

CHORUS GIRL BECOMES MOTHER ONLY A FEW HOURS AFTER OPERA

Americus, Ga., January 3.—(Special.) The stork brought a mascot to the Japanese Honeymoon Opera Company very unexpectedly this morning. Scarcely three hours after she had sung, danced and laughed for the pleasure of a large audience at the theater last night, one of the chorus girls became a mother at the Windsor hotel. Other members of the troupe were delighted with the mascot, which will probably bear the name of Americus.

As soon as she is able to travel, mother and child will return to Canada, where the husband and father is ill.

NAILS IN THE BAG WERE NEW AND THIEF'S PLEA WENT BAD

A bag of nails and his own sworn statement yesterday convicted George Strickland, a negro, who was arraigned for theft before the city criminal court.

Strickland was one of the thousand or more employees of the Atlanta Steel Company. His employers accused him of stealing a bag of new wire nails, weighing about 20 pounds.

When Strickland was put on the stand he solemnly stated that all the nails were old and rusty ones that he had collected around the plant.

With due impressiveness the bag of nails was brought forward, and the contents emptied on the table, where they shone and glittered under the electric lights with a most evident newness.

"Huh!" said Judge Calhoun, in his dry way, to the negro: "You have as good as convicted yourself. Twelve months for you."

HOPPING MAN TELLS COURT WHY HE GOT HOPPING MAD

New York, January 3.—"I see you have but one leg," said Magistrate Breen in the night court to Paul Macheck, a peg-legged watchmaker, who had pleaded his infirmity in extenuation, "but why did you break car windows?"

"Well, when a man has but one leg to hop on anyway, your honor," answered Macheck, "and the motorman of a car makes him hop double time to save his neck, and he chases that car and doesn't catch it, he just gets hopping mad. So, I took my cane and broke all the windows I could hit in the next car that came along."

Macheck smashed five windows, and several passengers were cut by broken glass, so he was held in $500 bond to cool down.

DROVE DIRECT TO CONSTITUTION

"We left home just forty-three days ago, and are making slow but sure progress without any breakdowns and without the necessity of having to take in the gasoline stations.

"It's just a pleasure trip; we are traveling this way because we like it. We are going on to Jacksonville, and then farther south in Florida, but just where we will not decide until we reach that city.

"I have frequently taken similar long drives through the west. There is nothing I enjoy more than living out in the air."

Mrs. Cannon was furnished one of The Constitution's route books of the round-the-state automobile good roads tour, and will leave the city this morning for Jacksonville, following the route of the tour into south Georgia.

Mrs. Cannon and her daughter, after leaving Battle Creek, came through Richmond, Ind.; Hamilton and Cincinnati, Ohio; Richmond, Ky., then over the Wildcat mountains, which constituted the roughest part of the trip; through Jellico City, Tenn.; Knoxville and Benton, Tenn.; Dalton and Cartersville, Ga., on to Atlanta.

Mrs. Cannon is a lightning-sketch artist, specializing in fruit and flowers, and her principal work consists in making designs for ladies' fancy needlework. To secure material for such sketches is one object of her trip to Florida. Her daughter, Miss Cannon, is a bright and pretty girl, and the natural color in her cheeks, heightened by exposure in the bracing open air, made one think of ripe peaches in the winter time.

"And don't forget the horse," said Mrs. Cannon as she drove off to put him up for the night. "He likes traveling as well as we do, and has gained 80 pounds on the trip."

vertising purposes and let the people of the country know the advantages of their State for farming purposes, and for industries of all kinds.

Take IOWA, for instance. The last census shows that its population decreased instead of going forward.

THE STATE OF IOWA SHOULD ADVERTISE. Its government could find no better method of making known the advantages of the State than by advertising.

THE STATE OF ILLINOIS, had it not been for the increase in population in the city of Chicago, would not have made very much of a showing during the last ten years.

What's the matter with Illinois? Why sholdn't she ADVERTISE also?

I observed an editorial in The LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL on the small increase in population of KENTUCKY. THERE IS NEED OF STATE ADVERTISING IN KENTUCKY also.

The great State of Ohio just about held its own in the last ten years. Ohio should advertise, too, for there is no better way to promote State, City or Community than by ADVERTISING.

There is no question that the farm and the farmer are the basis of the nation's prosperity. There is no question that congested communities consume more than they produce, which causes the high cost of living.

The farmer is the key to the whole situation, and if there aren't enough farmers, up goes the price of food products.

Dr. Butler is right—States that are GOING DOWNWARD in their farming sections have got to do something to get the farmers to locate in those states.

WHY NOT ADVERTISE?

(To Be Continued.)

tions on the other side of the question.

"In the first place," said Justice Holmes, "it is established by a series of cases that an ulterior public advantage may justify a comparatively insignificant taking of private property for what, in its immediate purpose, is a private use.

"It would seem that there may be other cases besides the every-day one of taxation, in which the share of each party in the benefit of a scheme of mutual protection is sufficient compensation for the correlative burden that it is compelled to assume. At least, if we have a case within the reasonable exercise of the police power, as above explained, no more need be said."

The justice then proceeded to justify the laws under the police power. The police power, he said, may be put forth in aid of "what is sanctioned by usage," or held by the prevailing morality or strong and preponderant opinion to be greatly and immediately necessary to the public welfare.

The laws came within this limit, he held.

MANAGER CAREY IS SUSTAINED

For Maddox—Puckett, Wilby, Pitts, Davis, Cochran, Bond—6.

This was a tie.

The election of a keeper for the zoo was then gone into.

Mr. Carey nominated E. T. Boyd, the man he had named Monday and who was defeated by the slate.

Mr. Cochran nominated Mr. Wilson, the man who had been first elected.

Carey's Resignation Withdrawn.

Mr. Puckett said that he did not think the board should be placed in the attitude of being forced to elect men while Mr. Carey's resignation lay on the table. He said the resignation should be taken up and withdrawn.

This was done very cheerfully by Mr. Carey.

The vote for keeper of the zoo was as follows:

For Boyd—Mayor Winn, Alderman Warren, Eubanks, Harris, Harwell, Hurtel, Wilby—7.

For Wilson—Cochran, Pitts, Bond, Puckett, Davis—5.

Mr. Boyd was declared elected.

Mr. Hurtel moved to go into the election of a superintendent of Piedmont park. This was done, and there was another tie.

Mr. Hurtel moved to reconsider the action of the board in all the elections that had been held on Monday.

Mr. Puckett moved to add the general manager. Both motions were lost.

The Final Wind-Up.

There was another long discussion in which Mayor Winn, President Eubanks and Mr. Puckett took leading parts.

When the vote was about to be taken both Mr. Wilby and Mr. Puckett stated that for the sake of peace and harmony they would come over to Mr. Crist, who was wanted by Mr. Carey.

When the roll was called everybody voted Crist except Mr. Cochran, who voted for Maddox.

Mr. Crist was declared elected.

The mayor thanked the board for the action it had taken.

the case before the supreme court last October.

The Riverside Mills sued the railroad company for the loss of a shipment of goods valued at $512.34 and for $300 attorney's fees. The goods were delivered to the railroad company under a special contract which was set out on the back of the usual bill of lading that the carrier was to be exempt from any loss or damage resulting from injury to the shipment on a connecting line. The shipment was safely delivered by the initial carrier to a connecting line, but suffered damage before delivery to the consignee. The railroad pleaded its exemption under the special contract. The shippers attacked the special contract as invalid as contravening section 20 of the federal act to regulate commerce, which was the Carmack amendment making the initial carrier responsible.

Contention of Railroads.

The railroads denied the power of congress to enact this legislation, holding that, first, it deprived carrier and shipper of their common law power to make a just and reasonable contract in respect to goods to be carried to points beyond the lines of the original carrier; and, second, that in casting the liability upon the initial carrier for loss or damage upon the lines of a connecting carrier, the former is deprived of its property without due process of law.

The lower courts sustained the position of the petitioners, and the railroad company appealed on writ of error to the circuit court of the United States and then to the supreme court.

The decision recited extracts from a speech delivered on the floor of the house by Representative Richardson, of Alabama, when the amendment was under consideration, to show that the object sought by congress in adopting the amendment was to relieve shippers from the necessity of going to distant states to bring suit for lost or damaged goods, but to make the initial carrier responsible.

No Absolute Liberty of Contract.

Justice Lurton, in rendering the unanimous decision of the court, said: "There is no such thing as absolute freedom of contract. Contracts which contravene public policy," said Justice Lurton, "cannot be lawfully made at all, and the power to make contracts may in all cases be regulated as to form, evidence and validity as to third persons. The power of government extends to the denial of liberty of contract to the extent of forbidding or regulating every contract which is reasonably calculated injuriously to affect the public interests. The regulation does not impose unreasonable burdens upon the receiving carrier."

The contract for the shipment in question which sought to exempt the carrier from liability for damage beyond its own line contravened the Carmack amendment, said the court, and was invalid.

NEW YORK BANKING LAW IS HELD CONSTITUTIONAL

Washington, January 3.—The supreme court of the United States today held constitutional the New York banking law enacted in 1910, to regulate the conduct of individuals and partnerships engaged in the business of receiving deposits for safe-keeping or for transmission of money to another without being licensed.

The law was enacted, so it was stated to the court, as a result of the report of the New York immigration commission and was designed to cure abuses said to exist principally in the cases of banks dealing largely with immigrants and aliens.

COAL CORPORATIONS TO LOSE THEIR LANDS

Washington, January 3.—Title to hundreds of thousands of acres of land in Kentucky was affected today by a decision of the supreme court of the United States holding against the Eastern Kentucky Coal Land Corporation, which claimed the property under the so-called Virginia grants.

The Kentucky Union Company also met with defeat in its attempt to protect its title to forty housand acres of land, claimed on grants similar to the Eastern Kentucky Coal Lands Corporation.

The constitutionality of a law that was passed by Kentucky in 1906, providing that title to lands on which taxes had not been paid for three years and not listed for taxation before 1907 should be forfeited to those who had paid taxes on the land was upheld by the supreme court.

states were left to be punished under the applicable state statutes.

Chief Justice White's Opinion.

Chief Justice White said that investigation plainly established:

"First, that adequate means were afforded for punishing the circulation of libel on a United States reservation by the state law, and in the state courts, without the necessity of resorting to the courts of the United States for redress.

"Second, that resort could not be had to the courts of the United States to punish the act of publishing a newspaper libel by circulating a copy of the newspaper on the reservation upon the theory that such publication was an independent offense, separate and distinct from the primary printing and publishing of the libellous article within the state of New York without disregarding the laws of that state and frustrating the plain purpose of such law, which was that there should be but a single prosecution and conviction.

"These propositions being true, it follows in the light of the construction which we have given the act of 1898 that the court was right in quashing the indictment as not authorized by that act. No other conclusion, we think, was possible, as the court could not have sustained the indictment without giving to the statute a meaning directly conflicting with the construction which we have affixed to it."

driving smoke. Then the roof collapsed and with it the men.

Not since the news of the British disaster at the opening of the South African campaign has the country been so aroused as at today's scenes at Stepney. The newspapers call loudly for a more effective means of dealing with the growing terrors of immigration, no doubt being held that the desperadoes who fell today were anarchists.

Dynamite Bombs Found.

A search of the ruins revealed a large number of what appeared to be metallic dynamite bombs in an unfinished stage.

At present there is no evidence that the house had any other occupants than the two whose charred bodies were found. Several policemen and civilians suffered minor injuries.

Immense crowds of sightseers invested the neighborhood until late tonight, but a strict police guard was maintained, and it was impossible for those without authority to get close to the half-wrecked building. The families who occupied the lower floors of the building were withdrawn by the police before the fighting began, and they profess to know nothing of how the desperadoes gained access to the house.

They appeared to have been in rooms rented by a Russian woman, Bessie Gershon, who is now under arrest with other suspects, against whom, however, no charge has yet been made.

Police Objected to Soldiers.

The police show aggravation at the calling out of the soldiers. They express confidence that they could have handled the affair without the help of the military. The last occasion on which the military was so employed was at the time of the notorious Trafalgar Square riots, when John Burns was arrested. Even then the soldiers did not fire.

According to The Daily Telegraph, the police are in possession of information concerning a widespread anarchist plot, which is regarded as one of great gravity. The details are kept secret.

BLACK EYE DEALT LABOR CONTRACTS

Alabama Law Held Invalid by High Court.

"Labor Contract" Law, According to the U. S. Supreme Court, Reduces Laborers to State of Peonage --- Decision Will Be Far-Reaching in South

Washington, January 3.—The fight of the federal government to have the "labor contract" law of Alabama declared unconstitutional finally met with success today, when the supreme court of the United States held the law invalid. The government claimed that the law reduced hundreds of negroes to a state akin to peonage.

The question of the constitutionality of the law was raised in the case of Alonzo Bailey, a negro laborer for the Riverside Company. The law made it a misdemeanor for any person to enter into a contract to labor, receive advance pay and then fail to do the work without refunding the money advanced.

Breach of Contract Made Proof.

The breach of the contract was made proof on the face of things of intent to defraud and under a rule of Alabama law, the laborer was not permitted to rebut this proof by testifying as to his unexpressed intention at the time of making the contract.

Bailey made a contract to labor as a farm hand for one year, received $15 advanced pay to be returned at the rate of $2.25 a month during the service, but quit work after a month and a few days. He was arrested, convicted and assessed a fine of twice the amount of the advanced pay, one-half of which was to go to his former employer and one-half to the state.

When his case came to the supreme court the department of justice was allowed to participate in the arguments "as a friend of the court," claiming that the thirteenth amendment to the constitution was violated by the law in question. The supreme court of Alabama had upheld the constitutionality of the law.

No Question of Color.

Justice Hughes, who announced the opinion of the court, said the court at the outset dismissed the point that Bailey was a black man, because there was nothing in the statute that disclosed a discrimination against negroes. He said the case had been considered in the same light as if it had originated in New York or Idaho.

The court held that so far as Bailey was concerned, the law as it stands was the same as if it made breach of such a contract a misdemeanor without saying anything about intent to defraud. To argue otherwise was characterized by Justice Hughes as making a distinction where there was no difference.

Furthermore, it was held that a state could not reduce a person to involuntary servitude by the indirect method of considering his failure to pay a debt a crime.
